

McGovern Apology To Party Official

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Presidential candidate George McGovern, campaigning for support in New England, publicly apologized today to Rhode Island's Democratic chief for what McGovern called a "misunderstanding."

But the state chairman, Lawrence P. McGarry, was unmoved by McGovern's bow and said he still plans to concentrate his campaign efforts this fall on helping Rhode Island Democrats rather than McGovern.

"There was no misunderstanding on my part," McGarry told newsmen following McGovern's statement before newsmen and state employees in the Capitol building.

"He and I had a very clear understanding. He and I met in agreement. You take it from there."

McGarry had supported Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie for the Democratic presidential nomination and has since said he would do little or nothing to help McGovern in this state.

McGarry and some other Democratic party regulars here are angry because they were not included as delegates to the Democratic National Convention, following McGovern's victory in the May 23 Rhode Island primary.

McGovern and McGarry discussed the matter prior to last month's convention, but their accounts of that phone conversation still differ.

McGovern said today he thought they had agreed that the matter would be worked out in conjunction with McGovern's own Rhode Island delegates.

McGarry said he thought McGovern himself was going to take a hand in the matter and insure placement of the so-called party regulars on the delegation to the Miami Beach convention.

In any case, McGovern apologized for "any misunderstandings. There was a legitimate misunderstanding...between the state chairman and myself."

"But," McGovern said, "I covet his support," and added he hopes "we can begin this campaign as friends."

If McGovern was not finding satisfaction in his search for support among some party leaders and in recent public opinion polls, he was buoyed by his reception by the man-on-the-street during his two-day New England campaign trip.

The same assessment was handed down by McGovern's political ally, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, who said McGovern's reception in Hartford Thursday afternoon was warm and enthusiastic and "was exactly the same as I saw for Harry Truman in 1948."

It was the first day of McGovern's two-day "listening tour" into New England, aimed at drawing out people on what is bothering them.

The campaign swing concludes today with appearances here and New York City. The South Dakotan will spend Friday night and Saturday in Woodstock, N.Y., at the home of Yale economist James Tobin, a chief McGovern economic adviser.

BULLETIN

The Sedalia school board Friday afternoon voted 4-1 not to pay the last bill presented by junior high school building contractor Don "L" Bron due to a delay in completing the building.

The decision was made after Board President George Thompson said he had been told by City Building Inspector Woodrow Garrison that he would not approve the building under present conditions. Garrison said he had not been contacted during the construction process by the Bron company and felt several defects in the building were being covered up. The board will meet with Garrison and Bron Monday night to discuss Garrison's decision.

prisoners and a limited cease-fire, contended it would force America out of the war.

But Hamilton argued it would impose realistic terms on the President for bargaining America out of the war. He said Nixon's own May 8 offer of U.S. withdrawal four months after a full Indochina case-fire is unrealistic and could not be accepted by Hanoi.

Speaker Carl Albert, Democratic Leader Hale Boggs and 75 other Democrats joined 151 Republicans in rejecting the war-pullout directive; 23 Republicans and 155 Democrats supported it.

Returns Home

Missouri Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton told a large crowd of supporters at St. Louis Thursday, "Sometimes in politics you wonder if it's worth it all. Your coming out here tonight is worth the whole 16 years I've spent," Eagleton returned to his home for the first time since withdrawing under pressure as the Democratic vice presidential candidate. (UPI)

Warm Homecoming for Eagleton

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "I tried to do what any good Missourian would do," Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton told a cheering crowd of about 1,000 who welcomed him on his first appearance in his hometown since withdrawing as the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

"I took a lot of heat and I stayed in the kitchen," he said, paraphrasing another Missourian, former Pres. Harry S. Truman.

"This is my home city and nothing could mean more than you people who are here tonight to greet me," Eagleton told the gathering which had surged onto the apron at Lambert-St. Louis International Airport as he descended from a 727 jetliner from Washington Friday night.

"The past two or three weeks have been some of the most interesting, most exciting and most frustrating of my life," the 42-year-old junior senator said.

Eagleton said he would work hard in the next three months for the election of Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern.

"No one, no one, not even a close relative, could have treated me with greater compassion or greater understanding," Eagleton said.

"The late Adlai Stevenson once said that a wise man doesn't rush history," Eagleton said with a smile. "I'll tell you one thing, 'I'm not going to rush history, but they're not going to relegate me to a footnote.'"

Signs reading "Tom, help us elect McGovern" and "Eagleton-76" as well as "Eagleton for President," were carried by those who greeted the Missouri senator.

On hand to meet him were Democratic leaders including gubernatorial nominee Edward L. Dowd, St. Louis County Democratic Chairman Martin S. Greenberg and state Sen. Robert Young of St. Ann.

Eagleton was expected to remain in St. Louis today and then go on to Kansas City.

"You have been kinder to me than I deserve," Eagleton told the crowd in emotional tones.

"I can't help but feel that you're God's most beautiful people," he said.

At Fairgrounds

Boone Dockers Plan Clean Campvention

It had to happen sometime — the Boone Dockers have finally come to Sedalia.

No, they aren't a rare breed of locust threatening to cripple the local countryside. That couldn't be farther from the truth.

"We plan to leave this place in better shape than we found it," says Dick Ledbetter in referring to the Missouri State Fairgrounds camping area where 625 camping and hiking families, representing about 2,500 persons, including about 15 "Boone Docker" units, are convening this weekend in the Central West Campvention of the National Campers and Hikers Association.

"We're the friendliest people in the world and the cleanest when it comes to the out-of-doors," said Ledbetter, who is Missouri director of the NCHA. "You won't find any litterbugs here."

A visit to the camp site, which resembles a mass mobile home invasion, quickly dispels any lingering notions of a tents city. "Years ago we had about 90 per cent tents and 10 per cent trailers. Now I'd say the opposite is true," Ledbetter said.

Agreeing with him was Robel Gustafson, NCHA field director from Lincoln, Neb., who went to his first campers gathering in 1958 with a flatbox trailer containing only a bed and a stove. He arrived in Sedalia this year with a living unit complete with electrical, plumbing and sewage facilities.

Although the ten-state regional division consists of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota, "campventioners" have come from all over the country. One group from Canada has even added an international flair to the activities.

One particularly interesting settlement was the "Shepherd of the Hills" retiree group, whose members' many strenuous activities contradict most of the common cliches of senior citizenship.

College Students Featured Sunday

The Sedalia Democrat this Sunday will publish a special section devoted to students attending college for the first time and news concerning city and area schools.

Featuring more than 60 pictures of college-bound students, the section outlines improvements and staff additions made at various Sedalia area schools. Also listed, whenever made available, are schedules for registration and other pertinent information.

Watch for this readership special Sunday in The Sedalia Democrat.

Nixon Victory in Pullout Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has given President Nixon a victory and almost ensured a new struggle with the Senate by rejecting a directive to pull all U.S. forces out of the Indochina war by Oct. 1.

Thursday's 226-178 vote was the closest direct House vote ever on ending the war, but the margin was far wider than either backers or opponents had predicted.

After striking out the war directive, the House passed a $2.1-billion foreign-military-aid bill, 221 to 172, and sent it to the Senate.

There it faces the danger of getting the same treatment the Senate gave its own military-assistance bill: approval of a rider cutting off money for the war in four months and then defeat of the whole bill.

The fight then would turn to keeping military aid alive on an interim basis pending official revival later.

The House rejected the Oct. 1 pullout directive after Nixon backers contended it would disrupt his efforts to negotiate peace—and his critics argued that only Congress can make him negotiate a prompt pullout.

No one, including Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., chief author of the directive to withdraw U.S. forces from Indochina by Oct. 1 in return for release of American

LaMonte Family To Represent Pettis County

County Farm Family

This happy family will represent Pettis County at the Farm Family Day at the State Fair Aug. 21. The Raymond Brandt family, LaMonte, was selected from among five families, which were nominated to the contest recently. From left to right are, Donna, 14;

Randy, 19; Raymond and his wife, Betty, and Robert, 15. The Brandts are members of Immanuel Lutheran Church, Sweet Springs, and are active in 4-H, FFA and other activities.

(Democrat-Capitol Photo)

The Raymond Brandt family of LaMonte has been selected as the 1972 Pettis County Farm Family. It was announced Friday by Lloyd Lewellen, area farm management specialist with the University of Missouri Extension Center.

The Brandt family will represent Pettis County at the Missouri State Fair and will be one of 110 such families from across the state who will be guests of the Fair on Farm Family Day Aug. 21. The family was selected earlier in the year.

Brandt and his wife, Betty, have three children — Randy, 19, a sophomore at Central Missouri State University, Warrensburg; Robert, 15, a junior at Sweet Springs High School; and Donna, 14, a freshman at Sweet Springs R-VII School.

Brandt has two farms — a 290-acre operation which he owns and a 300-acre rented farm. Brandt raises hogs, cattle and crops.

"It's quite an honor," Brandt said about his family's selection to represent Pettis County. The Brandts were one of five Pettis County families nominated to the contest.

The Bradts are members of Immanuel Lutheran Church, Sweet Springs. Mrs. Brandt has taught Sunday school for 10 years and her husband serves as a youth counselor. He is also a member of the Pettis County R-1 School Board. Mrs. Brandt has been a 4-H leader for 10 years.

Randy Brandt was a State FFA reporter last year, one of 12 State office-holders in that organization. Robert is a member of 4-H and FFA, and Donna is a member of 4-H.

Thunderbirds Appear For Gathering Here

What's it like to fly a jet?

About 2,500 campers attending the National Campers and Hikers Association "Campvention" found out Thursday night as four members of the Thunderbirds, the touring precision flying unit of the U.S. Air Force, addressed the land travelers at the Agriculture Building on the State Fairgrounds.

"It's the best flying job I ever hope to have in my life," said Capt. Steve Dwelle, pilot of one of the five F-4 McDonnell-Douglas Phantom jets. Dwelle, who has logged 2,400 flying hours in jets, is a Vietnam veteran of over 195 combat missions.

Explaining the Thunderbird program, Dwelle said the maximum time any Air Force pilot can fly in the group is two years. "There's a 50 per cent changeover every year," he said.

To qualify for the Thunderbirds, a pilot must have logged 1,000 hours of flying time in jets. Almost all of the pilots participating in the program have flown missions in Southeast Asia.

"It takes a lot of training and a number of years to get into this program," said Dwelle, a California native. "It's a very prestigious job."

The Thunderbirds last year presented formation and maneuverability demonstrations in 36 states and eight foreign countries. Dwelle estimates the group last year logged more than 100,000 miles, presenting an average of four shows a week.

The Thunderbirds performed their first aerial show in May, 1953. Their home base is Nellis Air Force Base, Las Vegas.

Dwelle said one of the purposes of the group is to "show what a well-trained person can do in a piece of quality machinery." The basic purpose of the group is to give the Air Force added publicity.

"Every one of those jets weighs 44,000 pounds and carries a crew of two," Dwelle explained. "The planes are capable of going 1,600 miles-per-hour. But for display purposes, we travel at a 'pretty slow' rate of speed — only 700 miles-per-hour. We're not allowed to break the sound barrier."

Perhaps the biggest disadvantage of being an ambassador in blue, Dwelle explained, is that "we only get to see our families two to four times per month."

The Thunderbirds were scheduled to demonstrate their aerial talents Friday afternoon at Whiteman AFB as part of the 30-year anniversary celebration there.

Camp Meeting Attendance Up

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SMITHTON — The 129th Lake Creek Camp Meeting, which began Sunday, will continue through this coming Sunday evening. "The attendance this year has almost doubled from last year's," said the Rev. Jerry Moon, pastor of the Smithton United Methodist Church which originated the camp meeting. More than 250 persons from area churches attended Sunday and Monday evening meetings addressed by Dr. Sterling Ward, superintendent of the Springfield district.

The Rev. Charles Burner, pastor of Nelson Memorial

Methodist Church, Boonville, spoke in the Tuesday and Wednesday evening meetings. Featured in the Thursday evening meeting were about 30 singers who call themselves Caldwell County Revival Seekers, an inter-denominational singing and witnessing group.

The Rev. William Butts, former pastor of the Smithton church who is now pastoring a church in Martin City, is the song leader for the camp meeting.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday meetings will be under the direction of a Lay Witness Mission consisting of 26 adults and 21 youths from five states.

The missions will be under the direction of Cliff Johnson, Blue Springs.

The Mission members will speak at a basket dinner at 6:30 p.m. Friday, at the camp grounds, following which the audience will break up into small discussion groups.

"The purpose of the group meeting is to help everyone to understand and recognize where they are in Christian growth pattern," Mr. Moon pointed out.

Coffee will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in 26 area homes for small-group sharing and in-depth study of the Scriptures. The Lay Witness Mission members will lead the groups.

A luncheon will be held Saturday noon for adults, while youths will hold a cook out. A general session will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Lay Witness Mission team will be featured in the Sunday morning services in 13 area Methodist churches.

The team will hold an evaluation session at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The camp meeting will conclude with a "celebration" at 8 p.m. Sunday.

The meetings at the camp site near the Lake Creek Church are open to the public.

Fifteen churches in the Sedalia district are participating in the camp meeting, Mr. Moon said.

Work On Highways Outlined

George Satterlee, District 4 highway engineer, described highway improvements underway or planned for the Sedalia area at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Bothwell Hotel.

Satterlee said dual-lane work on Highway 50 from Sedalia to Dresden is currently underway, and that contracts for a second stretch continuing on to the existing dual-lane east of LaMonte will be let in the winter. He said the entire improvement should be completed by the fall of 1973.

Turning to Highway 65, Satterlee said completion of dual-lane work between Sedalia and the Marshall Junction is in the Highway Department's current five-year plan, as is work south from the city limits to Route F. He said dual-lane work south of Route F on Highway 65 will be accomplished at a slower rate.

Satterlee also revealed that plans for improving Route T north of Dresden are "on the shelf" now, in view of the cancellation of Safeguard ABM plans in this area.

In answer to a question, Satterlee said the Highway Department would look into the possible need for traffic control signals at the 32nd Street-Highway 65 intersection.

Satterlee also gave a slide presentation on new traffic control signs and highway markings.

The Highway Department has purchased a plot of land just east of Dresden for possible use by Sedalia as a roadside park. Satterlee said, since the present roadside park just west of town will be destroyed by the Highway 50 improvement.

The program was introduced by Herb Taylor.

The Rev. Gregory Hibbard, president of the Red Cross board and a Kiwanian, appealed to club members for donations to the Red Cross to aid victims of heavy floods in the East.

President Jim Woods asked Jim Ryan to convey the club's congratulations to his brother, John, who won the Republican nomination for the 21st District seat in the State Senate on Tuesday.

Abe Rosenthal led singing, accompanied by Mrs. Keith Maynard. The invocation was given by the Rev. Bob Magee.

Church Pianist Honored

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WINDSOR — Mrs. Georgia Lynde, wife of Malvern Lynde, a resident of Windsor, was honored Sunday by the High Point Baptist Church near Leeton for serving the church for 30 years as a pianist.

She was presented a corsage of white carnations with a sterling silver music note charm and a sterling silver serving tray with an engraved note of appreciation from the church members. A piano-shaped cake was also given to her.

Responding to the felicitations, Mrs. Lynde recalled how her mother, the late Mrs. William Cronhardt, used to take her to Knob Noster in a horse-drawn buggy for piano lessons.

The sermon for the Sunday, designated "Georgia Lynde Day," was delivered by the Rev. Clarence Hyde. He preached on the subject, "Service Required According To Ability."

NEW YORK (AP) — A tall, genial professor has taken over as the chief administrative officer of the American Baptist Churches—one of the top posts in U.S. Protestantism. It carries more authority than ever before.

As the denomination's new general secretary, the Rev. Dr. Robert C. Campbell observes that he'll likely be referred to jestingly as "the general."

The job, he notes, has been revamped under a current reorganization of the church's national structure so that it is "less secretary and more general."

It was reinforced as the central point of control to assure more clear-cut lines of responsibility to the whole church, whose various national agencies in the past operated mostly on their own.

The change, he says, makes for a more truly "representative form" of denominational direction, more definitively answerable to its people. When elected to the key supervisory position by the church's recent convention, he remarked: "I thank you, I think."

It's a long-term job, parallel to the permanent executive posts in other Protestant bodies, and is not rotated annually or semi-annually as are the highest titular, largely honorary presidencies in Baptist and some other groups.

Besides his quick humor, a distinguishing trait brought to the office by Dr. Campbell, 47, a six-foot, handsomely graying New Testament specialist, is his array of scholarly credentials and thoroughly academic background.

"When a professor becomes a denominational executive, he's considered a traitor as a scholar," he said, adding that there's also an "unfortunate cleavage" between theologians and lay people.

But in his new job, he says, he hopes to "make people realize that theological professors are not oddballs, and to convince professors that people aren't as unconcerned about theology as professors sometimes think."

He says he also hopes to keep in close touch with young people, as he has done for the past 25 years as a teacher and seminary dean, but he adds: "Now I'll be a square to them. You can't get much more establishment than being a denominational bureaucrat."

Campbell, formerly dean and professor of New Testament at American Baptist Seminary of the West in Covina, Calif., took over his new administrative post Aug. 1, with headquarters in Valley Forge, Pa.

There, he will have broad oversight over a headquarters staff of 600, including associate executives heading the church's various national units—on education, home and international ministries and in other fields.

In the past, they were run largely independently by their own heads, and set their own directions, with only casual coordination between them.

Campbell says he hopes to "sharpen the image" of American Baptists as "a progressive, evangelical denomination."

radically committed to our Biblical faith which drives us to strong social and this-world involvement."

"We are one of the religious bodies with enough freedom and flexibility to meet adequately the needs of tomorrow's world," he says.

A strong supporter of the ecumenical movement for Christian unity, he says he realized long ago "that the Baptists don't have a corner on this thing (Christianity) at all."

First Assembly To Host Touring Team

The Ken Gaub Evangelistic Team, which has held music and healing meetings in various states, will be featured at special services Tuesday through Thursday at the First Assembly of God Church, 604 South Summit. Each day the service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Gaub held a tent campaign here four years ago under the auspices of several Sedalia churches.

Mr. Gaub has had over 7,000 engagements across America, Canada and overseas in his 17 years of ministry, according to the Rev. Floyd Buntentbach, pastor of First Assembly.

The meetings are open to the public.

County, City Residents Re-Establish Old Ties

City and county residents met Thursday night at the Cloyce Wilson farm, Route 3, and re-established some old ties between rural and urban dwellers. The evening was jointly sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Pettis County Extension Center. Area farmers acted as hosts. About 200 persons attended.

The climax of the evening was an address by Dr. Wayne Atkins, assistant to the vice president of the University of Missouri for Extension. Atkins' speech centered around the history of the Extension service in Pettis County and he noted the origin of the program was seated here as early as 1906 with the formation of a booster club composed mainly of businessmen. "Extension work actually started here," said Atkins.

The booster club, along with the state Department of Agriculture and the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, hired Sam Jordan to be Pettis County farm advisor. According to Atkins, the Department of Agriculture and the Chamber paid Jordan's salary and financed the operation of his office, originally located in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

The University of Missouri began working with the Farm Bureau to carry on the extension program. One year later the U.S. Department of Agriculture joined forces with bureau and university to add support to the program.

Atkins noted farm women were interested in establishing a home economics program to coincide with the agriculture program. As a result the state board of agriculture helped establish a homemakers club in 1912. A year later Miss Mildred Hinton became Jordan's counterpart in the Homemakers' group.

Atkins briefly discussed the university's role in the farm program. He said the university is an important factor, aiding the farmer in making changes to maintain production. He said the university feels "as Sam Jordan did, it's people who are important."

Atkins speculated Jordan "would never have believed

The Rev. John Treece conducted the school.

Church News

The sermon topic at Broadway Presbyterian Church this Sunday morning will be "Salvation Is Offered To All Men." The Rev. Roger Williams, pastor, will use as his text 1 Timothy 1:12 to 2:7.

A discussion of the sermon will be held in the Westminster room at 8 p.m.

The Epworth United Methodist Church will have as guests Sunday morning, members of the Lay Witness Mission which is being featured at Lake Creek. They will address the youth and adult Sunday school classes and bring the message during the worship service.

Ezekiel 33:10, 11 will be the text of the sermon Pastor Ross E. Haupt will preach Sunday morning at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Sweet Springs. The sermon topic will be "How Can We Live?"

The Sunday morning message of the Rev. Charles Hendrickson, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, will be "The Greater Works of Jesus."

Sunday evening, the youth choir from First Baptist Church, California, will present the Christian folk musical, "Tell It Like It Is." The musical will be directed by Bob Bohon, former music director at Calvary.

Minister Jammie Paden will preach on the subject, "Let Each Examine 'Self.'" Sunday morning at Stewart Avenue Church of Christ.

Sunday evening, Mr. Paden will bring a message on "Something For Christians To Remember."

Ephesians 5:18-20 will be the basis of the Sunday morning sermon at Maplewood Church. P. C. Thomas, associate pastor, will speak on "Classical Hymns Revisited."

Sunday and Wednesday evenings, Thomas will continue the series of studies in Ephesians.

Woman 'Guru' Giving Audience

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

PONDICHERY, India (AP) — The darshan starts with a gnarled hand suddenly gripping the railing of a pink draped balcony three stories above your head.

The hand is followed by a glimpse of the closely cropped head of a 94-year-old Frenchwoman. From weary eyes set over dark pouches, she peers quizzically at the crowd jammed in the street below.

You are in the presence of The Mother. Those around you go slackjawed with adoration, eyeballs rolling upward in devotion. Some mutter incantations or appeals. Others glow silently.

This is religious experience, Indian style.

The Mother is the reigning guru of the Sri Aurobindo Ashram which this year is celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the founder.

Sri Aurobindo Ghose, born in Calcutta in 1872, was a Hindu, Bengali Indian nationalist who fled after a bomb throwing incident in April 1910 to Pondicherry, then a French enclave on the east coast of British India.

After four years of silent Yoga, Sri — an honorific title throughout India — Aurobindo with the help of The Mother founded his religious colony in search of what he called the "Supermind."

The Mother appears to her followers four times a year at darshan which is translated roughly as an interview in the presence of a saintly person.

The next darshan is Aug. 15. It probably will be the most spectacular in the Ashram's history, marking not only Sri Aurobindo's one hundredth birthday but the 25th anniversary of Indian independence.

"We may even have a boat coming straight from the United States," said Gene Mas-

DEATH NOTICES

Leslie G. Hoberecht

Leslie G. Hoberecht, 80, 1005 South Arlington, died at 7 a.m. Friday at Bothwell Hospital.

He was born May 5, 1892, in Sedalia, son of Herman and Elizabeth Brill Hoberecht. He married Jesse Wilson in 1919 and she preceded him in death in 1958. In 1961 he married Anna Smith of Sedalia, who survives of the home.

He was reared and educated in the Sedalia area before being transferred to Cleveland with the Cities Service Gas Co. He worked there as an accountant for 38 years and returned to Sedalia in February, 1961.

He was a member of the United Church of Christ in Sedalia.

Surviving are his widow; two sons, Wilson Hoberecht, Cleveland, Ohio; Philip Hoberecht, Boulder, Colo.; six grandchildren and one step-granddaughter.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Marvin Albright officiating.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday at the funeral chapel.

Pallbearers will be Herbert Richards, Russell Curry, John Ellison Jr., Jack Niederhelm, Horace Donath and John H. Hosford.

Ben E. Cox

Ben E. Cox, 73, 1311 East Sixth, died at his home at 12:30 a.m. Friday. He had been ill for the past two months.

He was born in Jackson County, June 18, 1899, son of the late Benjamin and Elizabeth Clark Cox. He married Mrs. Elizabeth P. Hall Brennan, Nov. 14, 1956, in Conway, Mo., and she survives.

Mr. Cox was a retired carpenter and at the time of his retirement was employed by the Home Building Corp. in Sedalia.

He was a member of the Broadway Baptist Church.

Also surviving are two daughters by a former marriage, Mrs. Herbert (Betty Jean) Johnson and Mrs. James (Bonnie) Moffett, both of Milwaukee, Wis.; one step-daughter, Mrs. Patricia Behrens, East St. Louis, Ill.; two step-sons, Larry Brennan, Higginsville; William Brennan, Englewood, Calif.; and 13 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Sunday. The Rev. Raymond Knox, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church, will officiate.

Lyle Sipes, soloist, will be accompanied by Mrs. Rosalie DeLozier at the organ.

Pallbearers will be John Jones, Roy Charles, Emil Behrens, David Cox, Denzil Fischer and James Retherford.

Burial will be in the Salem Cemetery.

The body is at the funeral home.

Mrs. Sophia Brauer

COLE CAMP — Mrs. Sophia Brauer, 84, died Thursday afternoon at her home here following a heart attack.

She was born near Mora, April 8, 1888, daughter of the late Chris and Marie Cordes Schwensen. She was married to Edward Brauer, Dec. 31, 1911, and he survives of the home.

She was a member of First United Methodist Church of Cole Camp, a member of the Missionary Society and the Garden Club.

Also surviving are one son, Leo Brauer, Paris, Ky.; two sisters, Mrs. Lucie Bastian, Denver, Colo.; Mrs. N. J. (Billie) Fletcher, Alliance, Neb.; two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Fox Funeral Home in Cole Camp with the Rev. Paul Bond officiating.

Burial will be in Cole Camp Cemetery.

Houtchens To Step Down As His Party's Chairman

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY — Delton L. Houtchens will not seek his party's chairmanship for another term, it was announced here Thursday. His present term expires Sept. 12.

"I plan on going back full time to my legal practice in Clinton," Houtchens said, "however, I will continue to support the Democratic party in our state and work for its betterment at every opportunity," he added.

Houtchens has served as Democratic Committee Chairman since 1964, directing the 1964 and 1968 election campaigns of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

An advocate of equal voting rights for all Missourians, Houtchens was responsible for the state party's new constitution and by-laws, making Missouri one of the first 11 states to adopt a new party constitution.

"I feel that it is our responsibility to look after the needs of every citizen," Houtchens said. "This has been the trademark of the Democratic party and it was our aim in the new constitution to see that every segment of the population had a voice in the policies of our party."

During his terms as party chairman Houtchens maintained a full time staff to help raise campaign funds and promote party unity throughout the state. The state committee has never operated in the red since Houtchens took over eight years ago, according to John Yeager, the committee's public relations director.

"Working for the party has been a challenging job," Houtchens said. "It has been a job I believe in, it has been rewarding. I am proud to have been associated with Missouri's first term governor; I am proud of having helped create a new constitution for the Democratic Party; and I am proud to have been able to help many distinguished Missourians become office holders in our state," he concluded.

Busing Assault Withstood

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal judges' authority to order busing for school desegregation has withstood an assault in the Senate but now must face a test in the House.

By a 49-35 vote Thursday, the Senate killed an amendment by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., that would have barred federal courts from ordering busing of children on the basis of race, religion, color or national origin.

In the House, the Rules Committee cleared the way for a vote next Thursday on a bill allowing court-ordered busing only as a last resort for desegregation.

Allen tried to have the Senate attach his antibusing provision to a bill authorizing additional funds for the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. The bill passed 87 to 0 after the amendment was killed.

The amendment also would have barred federal officials from withholding or threatening to withhold any government funds to coerce a local school district into accepting a busing program to carry out desegregation.

The amendment was identical to one proposed last February by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., to another bill. It was narrowly defeated at that time.

The House bill, which cleared the committee on a 10-5 vote, would prohibit the busing of pupils in the first six grades any farther than the second-closest school to their home. In higher grades busing could be ordered only as a last resort.

In every case, it would require that the courts follow a prescribed list of solutions for unlawful segregation, such as redrawing school-attendance zones, building new schools and permitting student transfers, before busing could be ordered.

In predominantly black inner-city schools, where busing offers the only means of desegregating, the bill would authorize $500 million in extra federal aid as an alternative to busing.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., the bill's principal author, said it would permit desegregation to continue without the emotional issue of long-distance busing.

Espionage Conviction Rendered

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—A military judge today convicted Air Force M. Sgt. Walter T. Perkins of attempting to smuggle secret U.S. defense documents to Soviet agents, then went into seclusion to consider the sentence.

Col. Joe Peck said Perkins' actions were the work of a "willful, evil mind," but he refused a prosecution demand to hand down a maximum sentence of 26 years.

Peck, who heard the espionage court-martial after Perkins waived his right to a jury trial, said the maximum sentence he would possibly levy would be 24 years in prison.

The judge dismissed a defense contention that Perkins' ability to distinguish right from wrong was affected by acute alcoholism.

The verdict was returned after six hours of deliberations by Col. Joe Peck, who heard the espionage court-martial after Perkins waived his right to a jury.

Perkins, 37, ranking noncommissioned officer in the intelligence unit at this northwest Florida base, was accused of three separate counts of attempt to smuggle vital defense secrets to Soviet agents in Mexico City.

Peck had to decide between prosecution assertions that Perkins was a calculating spy and defense claims he was a man deluded by alcohol into believing he could swap defense secrets for the freedom of American prisoners of war.

Perkins stood beside his three attorneys and showed no visible emotion as Peck delivered his verdict.

His mother, Mrs. Grace Perkins, burst into tears.

Defense attorneys said they would present mitigating evidence and ask for a light sentence.

Peck convicted Perkins of possessing five secret documents, attempting to pass them to Soviet agents and falsifying an Air Force form stating he had destroyed the documents last Sept. 10.

Accidental Shooting Reported

(Democrat-Capital Service)

GRAVOIS MILLS — A 14-year-old Overland Park, Kan., girl was wounded by a .22 calibre rifle in an accidental shooting near Gravois Mills Thursday afternoon.

Ronda Thames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Thames, Overland Park, Kan., was staying with the Charles Black family, Route 1, Gravois Mills, according to Deputy William Arnold of the Morgan County Sheriff's Department. Arnold said the girl and an 11-year-old neighbor boy were shooting the rifle in the yard of the home and went into the house and laid the rifle on a table.

Arnold reported that when the boy picked the rifle up it discharged. The bullet struck the girl's right thigh and exited through her right side.

She was taken to the Gunn Clinic, Versailles, where she was treated and then transferred to Bothwell Hospital, Sedalia, by a Kidwell Ambulance.

Talking with a representative of the Pettis County Sheriff's office, Miss Thames said the shooting was an accident. Morgan County officials withheld the name of the juvenile boy. They also reported that the youths were alone at the Black residence at the time of the shooting.

She was released from Bothwell late Thursday afternoon after being treated.

Going Home From 'Nam Is Great

SAIGON (AP) — The last U.S. combat infantrymen in Vietnam prepared to go home today, and for Ronald Wegerle it was none too soon.

"Things weren't going too good," said the 21-year-old sergeant from Wichita, Kan. "It was the same thing over and over. The men were getting tired and morale was getting bad."

"We kept going out in the bush, and the feeling was we weren't accomplishing much. It seemed useless. All we'd do was walk. We'd be out several days, and we didn't seem to need to be out there at all."

The news spread into the field during the past week that the 3rd Battalion, 21st Infantry, was being phased out. The last 240 men were flown back to Da Nang on Thursday to turn in their equipment and pack their bags.

The U.S. Command made the announcement today, officially ending the 7½-year U.S. ground combat role in Vietnam.

At peak strength in April there were 112 U.S. maneuver battalions as part of a 543,000-man force. By Sept. 1, the U.S. force will be cut to 39,000 men in Vietnam — advisers, logistics personnel, air crewmen and other technicians — and another 100,000 Air Force, Navy and Marine personnel fighting the war from air bases in Thailand and Guam and from 7th Fleet ships off the coast of Vietnam.

Wegerle said "everybody watched where they were walking" after his Delta Company learned it was leaving combat for good.

"They all were pretty cautious," he said. "They all wanted to go home."

The last American combat infantrymen wounded in Vietnam, Spec. 4. James McVicar, 20, of Chester, Calif., is being flown to the United States on Saturday.

The 3rd Battalion arrived in Vietnam in 1966 and eventually became part of the ill-fated Americal Division. The battalion's Alpha Company made headlines in August 1969 when it balked at going into combat.

Appeals Board To Hear Cases

The Pettis County Board of Appeals will meet at 9 a.m. Monday in the county court judges chambers at the courthouse, Mary Jane Wilson, county clerk, said Friday.

The Board of Appeals will hear requests for lower tax assessments from persons who appeared last month before the Pettis County Board of Equalization. Only persons who appeared before the Board of Equalization last month are eligible to appear before the Board of Appeals.

In case a person cannot appear before the board Monday, arrangements should be made with the county clerk's office to reschedule the meeting later in the week.

Fischer Is Said In Lead

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — A "terrible mistake" by world champion Boris Spassky Friday night lost him a drawn position in the 13th game against Bobby Fischer for the world chess championship and plunged him back into a three-point, 8-5 deficit.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — World chess champion Boris Spassky opened the adjourned 13th title game with Bobby Fischer today with a quiet move, pushing his king one square forward.

Spassky arrived punctually for the game which experts predict will be won by the American challenger.

Fischer was a record 25 minutes late and strode to his seat without acknowledging Spassky's presence. When the champion returned to the board to shake hands, Fischer did not rise.

If Fischer wins the game, it will bring him 4½ points from the world title.

A victory for the American challenger would make the score 8-5 in his favor. Russian champion Boris Spassky needs 7 points to retain his title, and with a maximum of 11 games remaining Fischer could win with a run of draws.

The Brooklyn, N.Y., chess wizard needs 12½ points in the 24-game series to capture the crown while the Russian master needs 12 points to retain it. A win counts one point and a draw one-half point.

The experts said Fischer had Spassky in a hopeless position by the time the game adjourned after the 41st move.

At the adjournment, Fischer was two pawns ahead, six to Spassky's four, with one of them on the seventh rank in a position to promote to a queen. Each player had two rooks and a bishop.

Fischer played Thursday despite the Icelandic Chess Federation's refusal of his demand that the first seven rows of seats in the hall be removed.

"The spectators are so close, and so noisy, and the acoustics are so poor, that I can hear them opening candy wrappers and I hear bits of conversation, as well as coughing, laughing and so on," Fischer's letter of complaint said.

Plan

It's a lot better than sitting at home in your rocking chair," said Mrs. Mary Louise Dyson who, with her husband Don, has been on the road since 1968 when Dyson retired as personnel director at Ft. Leonard Wood.

"We meet in the winter and decide our camping schedule for the coming season," Dyson explained. "We always camp on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to keep from crowding younger families on weekends."

Since the campvention is being held in Sedalia, Missouri camping groups have been designated as hosts. According to Galen Oden, Grandview, whose group constructed the illuminated entrance arch, this presented a peculiar problem.

"We were building the arch and of course the wiring was done last. We got ready to put the lights in and suddenly realized — where do you buy 75 Christmas tree bulbs this time of year? We finally got some from a St. Louis firm but it was a close call," he said.

All campers interviewed unanimously agreed that the Fairgrounds campsite, and the hospitality of Sedalia citizens and merchants, were excellent.

"I think it was really fantastic ... it's got to be the best campground we have ever been on. We're not crowded and there's plenty of room for everybody," Mrs. Ed Garver, Wichita, Kan., said.

Whitman, 422 East 15th, forfeited $11; Freda A. Kahl, 911 West Seventh, forfeited $10; James J. Fletcher, Box 202, dismissed.

The following persons were charged with petty larceny: Danny Haggerman, Versailles, fined $25; Janet Riley, Denver, Colo., forfeited $50; Mrs. Geneva Mundy, 1001 Crescent Drive, forfeited $50.

The following persons were charged with disorderly conduct: Charles G. Bacon, 920 West 16th, dismissed; Leroy Gibson, 325 West Saline, case taken under advisement;

The following persons were charged with careless and imprudent driving: Forrest Bryden, 520 West Broadway, forfeited $25; John Engles, 216 East Boonville, forfeited $25.

Carl D. Holman, 705 North Prospect, driving while intoxicated, fined $100; leaving the scene of an accident, forfeited $25.

Warren Bass, 603 West Fourth, illegal dumping of garbage, case taken under advisement.

Dale Diefenbach, 815 West Fifth, leaving the scene of an accident, dismissed.

Frank Eppes, 2411 Margaret, failure to pay overtime parking tickets, forfeited $32.

Marriage Licenses

Kurt Leslie Klein, Syracuse, and Barbara Sue Gardner, Ottaville.

Clayton George Strong, 1814 South Carr, and Deborah Ann Johnson, Columbia.

David Armand Weaver, 2507 Albert Lee, and Stacey Ann Morris, Route 3.

Three Injured Severely

Three persons were severely injured about 1:55 p.m. Thursday in a two-car accident on Route Y, about three miles west of the city limits.

Taken to Bothwell Hospital in two Pettis County ambulances were Marla Joy Ruhl, 21, 1515 West Fourth, driver of one of the cars; Patty Lee Paxton, 21, 609 Wilkerson, the driver of the other car involved; and Dennis Paxton, 23, 609 Wilkerson, a passenger in the car driven by his wife.

According to doctors in the hospital emergency room, Paxton sustained injuries and fractures to both legs. He was transferred to the University of Missouri Medical Center in Columbia about 3 p.m.

He was listed in serious condition Friday.

Mrs. Paxton suffered a broken back, a broken nose and possible internal injuries. She was listed in fair condition Friday.

Mrs. Ruhl suffered a fractured right leg and head and facial lacerations. She was listed in good condition Friday.

According to Trooper Curt Mathews, the accident occurred when a 1967 Ford, driven by Mrs. Paxton, turned onto Highway Y into the path of a 1969 Pontiac driven by Mrs. Ruhl. All three persons were thrown from their vehicles.

Mathews said the bumper of the Paxton car flew into the air and struck Dennis Paxton on the head.

Meeting

However, Askew and State Department of Agriculture officials fear the possibility that the number of pickets will increase. As of Friday, the plumbers union had placed pickets at only three of the 13 entrances to the Fair.

Many union officials, when contacted Thursday, said the partial picketing of the fairgrounds does not constitute a valid picket line. Thus, union workers were not breaking picket lines by being on the fairgrounds.

One union representative predicted that if the pickets are increased to cover all the entrances into the fairgrounds, a work shutdown would result.

Sand Dollar's Odor Creates Problem

By POLLY CRAMER
Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I do hope some reader can tell me how to remove the brown fuzz from a sand dollar that a friend gave me. I would also like to get rid of the bad odor this shell has. — L. R. C.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those parents who calmly rock on their front porches while their children are whooping and hollering in the streets, making so much noise their neighbors cannot even hear themselves inside their own homes. — AGNES

DEAR POLLY — I have help for Vera, whose dry cleaner has refused to clean her smocked satin pillows that are filled with shredded foam. Open up a little of the pillow's seam and, if the foam is loose and not in another ticking, she should make one of the needed size and fill it with the foam as it is removed from the satin cover. The satin cover can then be sent to the cleaners, or some may take to a washing with a mild soap solution. When dry or cleaned, put the new filled casing inside the satin one and sew the seam together with tiny hand stitches. Next time the pillow needs cleaning the job will be easy. — IDA

DEAR POLLY — I have a great way to save drawer space taken up by bulky scarves, mittens and hats. Empty coat or jacket pockets of anything that may have accumulated there and put the matching gloves or mittens in the pockets, hang the scarf over the bar on the coat hanger and use a clothespin to attach the hat or cap to the bar. If pockets are too small for the mittens they, too, can be attached to the bar with a clothespin. This works during the season when the things are being worn as well as when they are stored away for the summer months. Only takes a minute to do and any hunting for lost items is eliminated. — PATTI

DEAR POLLY — To restore a shine to chintz draperies and bedspreads that have lost their luster, iron them with the right side down on a sheet of waxed paper. Change the paper as soon as the wax is all transferred to the fabric. — MRS. R. L.

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Breath Shortness Is Heart Symptom

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would appreciate your view on my situation. I had a stroke in 1965 and four serious heart attacks in 1966. Now I am having trouble with my breathing. I must use three pillows or my shortness of breath will keep me awake more than half of the night. My doctor claims the breathing is caused by nervousness and emotional tension but he doesn't prescribe anything for relief. I am 66 years old. What should I do?

Dear Reader — Of course, I can't say without having information exactly what is causing your shortness of breath, but one of the signs that the heart is not functioning as strongly as it should is shortness of breath. This is caused by the accumulation of fluid in the lungs. The fluid literally backs up in the lungs because the left side of the heart is weak. There are other things which cause shortness of breath but this is the first thing one thinks of in a person who has heart disease. Your doctor has probably already considered this and must not think this is the case.

Your letter suggests that you do not have confidence in your doctor's opinion. If your problem is nervousness and emotional tension, one factor in relieving this would be to satisfy your own mind that your heart is all right. So, I think you should ask your doctor to send you to a heart specialist for a consultation. All reputable doctors welcome consultations from another physician and sometimes such consultations really help the doctor who is faced with a complex problem. If your heart is all right, you will be happier and even be a better patient. In general, if a doctor refuses to arrange for a consultation when a patient asks for one something is wrong. The American Medical Assn. encourages consultations with other doctors.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you tell me if a great number of X rays have a bad effect on your blood cells or other organs in your body? My brother has had about 20 X rays and we have been worried about the side effects they might have.

Dear Reader — Excess radiation can have side effects. For this reason limits of exposure to radiation over a given period of time have been set for human beings. Unless the person is in an occupation that causes him to be exposed to radiation, the usual number of X rays done for medical examinations doesn't pose a problem. Certainly they pose less of a threat to the patient than not taking the X rays and failing to diagnose an important medical problem. Most radiologists are well-versed on this problem and are not likely to use an excessive amount of X rays in studying their patients. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Housing Is Booming But Profits Aren't

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Last year, said the executive, our company was involved in the sale of 1,800 homes with a total market value of more than $50 million. We lost $6,000 on those transactions.

This year, he said, we expect to do even better. We hope to sell 2,000 homes and, if we achieve the same efficiency, we'll probably end up with a loss or gain of the same proportions.

In essence, this is the perplexing report given by Weston Edwards, president of TI Home Transfer Service Corp.

"We think our record of superior service and minimum costs compares favorably with anyone in this business," he said proudly, leaving the listener wondering if somehow losses on each sale can be made up in volume.

The explanation: TI is one of about 14 national companies in the young, growing industry of transferring corporate employees from one area to another. Home Equity is largest. TI, three years old, is second biggest.

Transfer service companies usually contract with a company to handle the sale of an employee's home in order to make the transfer more efficient and less of a shock. They may obtain another house for him. They may help finance it.

Being experts, it is assumed by many people that they make a killing in the real estate market—that they buy low, sell high and pocket the rest. Nice theory; it doesn't work.

The profit is earned on a fee, not on buying low-selling high.

Weston, who has moved his own family 14 times in 18 years of marriage—a noteworthy feat when you consider that at latest count he has 11 children—estimates that between 300,000 and 500,000 employees will be transferred this year.

In the past, many transfers were handled haphazardly. In recent years, corporate personnel departments have handled the task or at least helped. Professional relocation firms still handle only 20 per cent of the business.

Pricing practices vary, but in the case of TI, which is one of several real estate and financial service subsidiaries of a corporation that grew out of the old Title Insurance & Trust Co.—the entire bill is company-paid. When the worker is notified of the transfer, TI arranges immediately to meet with him to discuss the sale. Usually it takes place on the same day. "Time is money. Time is employee frustration," says Weston.

At least two appraisers estimate the house's value. The legal background is investigated, the mortgage balance checked. Within a week to 10 days an offer is made to the employee.

He can accept or reject it then and there, or he can take 30 days to shop for a higher price. If he accepts immediately, TI offers to forward any additional money if the house sells for a price higher than anticipated.

The fee to the company is a flat sum, roughly $1,000, plus 11 to 13 per cent of the sale price. That generally includes repairs and remodeling needed to sell the property and a 6 or 7 per cent broker fee.

Production Yield

Figures Released

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department's latest estimate of important crops in Missouri for 1972 included these figures on yield per acre and production:

Corn—82 bushels per acre and production 205,000,000 bushels. Soybeans—27 bushels per acre and production 108,000,000 bushels.

Winter wheat—39 bushels per acre and production 39,390,000 bushels. Sorghum grain—65 bushels per acre and production 26,000,000 bushels.

Charged in Death

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dennis Haymon, 19, and Adrian Moore, 21, both of St. Louis were charged with first degree murder in warrants issued by the St. Louis Circuit Attorney's office Thursday. The pair was charged in connection with the killing of Jerome Gaines, 27, at a service station here, Sunday police said.

Police believe the shooting was related to a struggle among narcotics dealers and suppliers in the city.

Aura of glamour wearing bit thin

WASHINGTON — As one who predicted, R. Sargent Shriver as a likely McGovern, running-mate, even before the Democratic convention, I have regained a bit of the credibility we columnists lost during a crazy year of trips to China, wage-and-price controls and political upsets.

Or why else would so many people be asking me now what chance I think Sen. McGovern has of defeating President Nixon?

McGovern clearly is a longshot, an underdog, just as he was six months ago when Sen. Edmund Muskie seemed to have the Democratic nomination locked up and McGovern, a relative unknown, figured to be about as strong as hairspray in a hurricane.

To assess McGovern's chances of pulling off another incredible triumph, we need to go back to a remark Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey made in anger during the closing days of his last and fruitless run at the White House.

Humphrey observed that the media builds candidates up and tears them down. He said the press had made Muskie the front runner, and then beat him to political death. He said the press was then building up McGovern, and Humphrey made it clear that he thought the press was tearing HHH down.

Few media men would deny that there is an element of legitimacy in Humphrey's complaint that the press has a vital impact on the political fortunes of men seeking the Presidency.

George McGovern did benefit from press play that portrayed him as the reformer, the underdog fighting the system. A few newsmen referred to him sarcastically as Mr. Clean, but most set him up as the Sir Lancelot of American politics.

But the aura of press glamour began to wear off McGovern during the long ordeal of deciding whether and with whom to replace Sen. Thomas Eagleton as the vice presidential nominee. Perhaps the major clue to McGovern's Presidential fortunes is whether he can regain in the media the image of an honest, humble politician who is a bit more trustworthy, a bit more innocent, than most of the political breed.

In this respect, McGovern's fate is largely in his own hands, despite the implication by Humphrey and others that the media deliberately builds up candidates and cavalierly tears them down.

The press did build Muskie up after the Maine senator's notable TV performance at the end of the 1970 congressional campaign. But the demise of Muskie was initiated not by newsmen, but by Muskie. The press simply reported what millions of voters discerned: Muskie was indecisive even to the point of being mealy-mouthed; he lacked the energy or the knowhow to exploit current issues and keep his campaign vibrant; he lapsed into periods of bad judgment, as when he staged that weeping episode in New Hampshire.

Humphrey felt that the press tore him down by portraying him as a man so eager to win the nomination that he would back away from the strong civil rights stance he had maintained for a quarter century.

The press did do Humphrey severe damage regarding busing and civil rights, although it is safe to say that not one journalist in 1,000 believed Humphrey's commitment to racial equality had weakened.

But the simple fact is that it was Humphrey (or his advisers) who put out that injudicious statement praising Nixon's message on busing, only to have Humphrey later retract it. All the press had to do was report the fact to leave millions of Americans perplexed, and many blacks complaining that "Humphrey is trying to out-Wallace Wallace."

Whether McGovern is "torn down" by the press will be determined mostly by how well he and Shriver play the game in the next three months. McGovern can scarcely afford any more situations where he vows "1,000 per cent support" to a man he is going to dump. He can hardly afford more episodes where he is made to look indecisive, vacillating — as was the case where he seemed to be offering the vice presidency to every Catholic east of the Mississippi.

So for all the bickering among Democrats in Ohio and Illinois, for all those Democrats who are flocking to Nixon out of an assumption that that is where the money and power will be till 1976, a certain feeling lingers with this observer: election campaign 1972 is still going to be a mean, grueling affair, with no sure sure of the victor till the morning of November 8.

No place but up for George now

Now that the agony of the Eagleton affair is at least behind Sen. George McGovern and a new running mate has been selected, what are the prospects of the Democratic ticket at this point?

Considerably improved, we would think. Then again, after the events of the last 10 days, up was the only way left for the ticket.

Sargent Shriver certainly brings a welcome touch of vitality to the rather staid McGovern style. The contrast was no doubt intentional, the thinking being that if you can't get a Kennedy, get a Kennedy brother-in-law.

Shriver's shortcoming is somewhat less apparent: he has never held elective office. But this is at least partially compensated for by the fact that he was appointed to important domestic and foreign appointments by three Presidents.

But it is still an open question whether anything can save the Democratic ticket. Many observers, after the Eagleton debacle and the embarrassing series of rejections from subsequent vice presidential prospects, were ready to pronounce the McGovern candidacy stillborn.

Today McGovern is at a 57-34 point disadvantage with President Richard Nixon in national opinion polls. While this gap is certain to close some as the campaign progresses, the chances of McGovern and Shriver turning the victory corner between now and Nov. 7 seem virtually impossible today.

But stranger things than this have happened in American politics, and as Senator McGovern now begins to address himself to the issues he says are the real crux of the election, we will be watching to see if he can spark the imagination of a sizable portion of the electorate, something he has failed to accomplish so far.

Merry-go-round

Plush life afloat planned by Navy

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The admirals have been wringing their hands in despair over the deterioration of American seapower and the corresponding growth of the Soviet fleet.

We have now obtained some of their plans for strengthening U.S. ships on the high seas.

The officers' staterooms, for example, will be fitted with carpets, drapes, planter boxes, audio units, dimmer switches, air conditioning and other comforts "suited to the sociological, physiological and psychological needs of officer personnel."

The crews' quarters, not to be neglected, will also get new rugs, drapes, planter boxes and "tasteful paintings and pictures." The plans call for strict coordination of colors and patterns "to achieve effective color dynamics."

The enlisted men will also get new wardrobe space suitable for hanging "a peacoat plus two new uniforms and two outfits of civilian clothing."

It used to be that they folded their bell-bottoms and stuffed them into lockers under their berths. But they will soon start trading in their bell-bottoms for more spiffy uniforms. These not only will require hanging space but dry cleaning.

Accordingly, the dry cleaning facilities aboard surface ships will be expanded to "meet work load requirements necessitated by the latest change in enlisted uniform."

The Navy will increase the size of some crews, too. "Additional personnel are required," state the plans, "to operate the (dry cleaning) facilities to be installed."

As part of the new Navy look, seamen are permitted to grow their hair longer, but they are still expected to keep their lengthened locks properly groomed. The new hair styles will be fashioned, appropriately, in more "decorative" shipboard barber shops — complete with "flush fluorescent lighting" and newly-designed "barber chairs and barber shop accessories."

The improved dining quarters will offer everything from "ice cream and dessert bars" and "hot dog roll-a-grills" to "decorative heat retention lamps" for food display and "lighting controls to achieve environmental lighting keyed to meal moods."

The lounges, too, will be refurbished "to improve the environment for rest and relaxation." Indeed, even the ships' heads will be outfitted with fancy new china urinals, lighting fixtures, soap dispensers and electric hand dryers.

The cost for all these improvements, said a spokesman, hasn't been calculated. The preliminary plans, in our possession, indicate it will run high into the millions. But the spokesman said the estimates may be scaled down, depending on how many ships the Navy finally overhauls.

Free Pens — "Huge quantities" of fountain pens, with propaganda leaflets attached, have been dumped on North Vietnamese forces in Laos. Apparently, this has provided Communist troops with a lot of free pens but hasn't impressed many with the U.S. message. Commented Ambassador G. McMurtrie Godley in a confidential message: "We suggest that it is highly doubtful that leaflets can ever be effective against well educated, battle hardened veterans." But he added hopefully that "less than 25 per cent of personnel in NVA units in Laos are veterans of more than one year service."

Herbicide Ban — U.S. forces were ordered to stop using herbicides to clear away foliage in Vietnam after May 1, 1971. However, the Pentagon has continued to receive reports, usually stamped "Secret," that some units found "alternative means to herbicide use ... to remove excess vegetation in the vicinity of fire bases and installations."

Don't Trust Danes — U.S. military observers in Copenhagen have warned that Marxist Socialists can gain access to military secrets because of parliamentary control over Danish defense intelligence. Reported the observers to the Pentagon: "Source is deeply concerned with the trend of current political developments in Denmark."

Secret Aid—The Republic of Malawi has kept secret from other black African nations that it is receiving military aid from hated South Africa. "Knowledgeability limited to very few in Malawi govt.," states a secret report.

Nippon import wipe-out

By DOUG KNEIBERT

By all rights I should now be nestled down on the Maine seashore, listening to the lapping waves and the put-put of lobster boats, instead of pecking at a typewriter.

Call it the Vacation That Almost Was. That's a little more refined than some of the things I called it when I had to cash in my tickets and scrub the whole affair last week.

It was planned beautifully. A week in a cabin on Casco Bay, away from it all with nothing but seagulls, clam shells and the latest Eric Ambler thriller to occupy my time. And it all even fit into a fairly modest vacation budget, only slightly stretched around the edges.

Then we ran head-on into the Coxsockii Virus.

Coxsockii, another Japanese import, is a specialist at wiping out plans. Try spending five days in bed with temperatures up to 104 and see how anxious you are to hit the open road.

The Coxsockii Virus is characterized by high temperatures, listlessness, loss of appetite, bleary-eyed parents, stir-crazy mothers and torn up vacation brochures.

After the virus had burned itself out and our kids finally staggered from their rooms, our one and only shot at Casco Bay had passed, like trawlers in the fog. I started rummaging through our "brochure drawer," looking for old Missouri material I had earlier discarded in favor of the glittering East.

Now I am trying to get into Fred's Modern Cabins on the Cottonmouth arm of the Lake of the Ozarks sometime before school starts. Fred's got me on standby, just in case there's a cancellation.

Dick Schwalie, office manager at Fechtel Beverage and Sales, Inc., says he has had "a terrific number" of calls about the Carling Brewing Company's aluminum can reclamation program, which Fechtel handles locally.

The offer, to buy back all aluminum beer cans at the rate of 10 cents a pound, is now a little over a month old. Although Schwalie has not been swamped with cans so far, he suspects that there are a lot of collectors saving up out there, who will come in for the payoff before long.

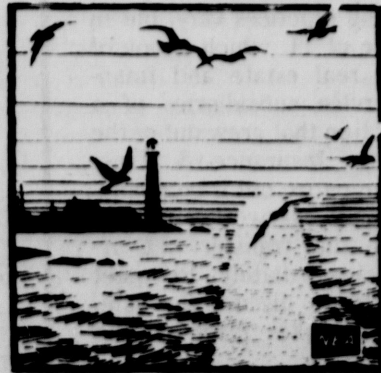

This is a forward-looking program by Carling and if all brewers would follow suit a significant dent could be made on at least one contributor to the solid waste disposal problem. Then throw-away bottles could be next.

I meant to comment last week on the recent second annual Bluegrass Festival, held recently near Knob Noster. It's a fine affair and brings a lot of top Bluegrass talent to this part of the state. But at four bucks a head, I'm afraid about the only ones who can enjoy it are city folks.

House Action Uncertain On Passed Handgun Bill

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A ban on the sale of easily concealable handguns has been passed by the Senate and sent to an uncertain fate in the House.

The Senate passed the measure, 68 to 25, late Wednesday after three days of debate and overwhelming rejection of stronger gun controls.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the bill's chief sponsor, said it would "take out of the marketplace the weapons used most frequently by criminals."

The Senate bill is aimed primarily at cheap, snub-nosed, light-weight handguns of the kind commonly called "Saturday night specials," but it also would bar the sale of other higher-quality weapons that are easily concealed.

Bayh said the bill would have prevented the legal sale of the guns used to assassinate Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in 1968 and to shoot Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace three months ago. The attempted assassination of Wallace during his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination spurred Senate action on the measure.

Bayh estimated the bill would ban the sale of about one million of the 2½ million pistols and revolvers sold each year in this country.

But it would do nothing about the millions of handguns now privately owned.

The Senate rejected attempts to outlaw private ownership of handguns and to require registration of all firearms and licensing of gun owners.

The Senate did adopt amendments making the murder or attempted murder of policemen, firemen and prison guards on active duty a federal crime and providing for priority handling in the federal courts of criminal trials involving use or possession of a firearm.

The bill also was amended to set an additional separate penalty for carrying or using a firearm in the commission of a felony.

The Senate rejected, 70 to 27, an amendment by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., to permit dealers to sell present stocks of the handguns outlawed by the legislation. It would have allowed continued sales of all models until the secretary of the Treasury acted to disapprove them.

Ann Landers

Retarded Have Much To Give

Dear Ann Landers: When most people learn you have a retarded child they tend to write him off as useless. Why isn't a better job of education done so the public will know that most retardees can look after their personal needs, do housework, make meals, sew, and even hold jobs.

Retarded people have different intelligence levels. Some are smarter than others, just like the non-afflicted. I have encountered a great number of people who are under the impression that all retarded children must be "put away." When I tell them our child lives at home and attends a special school they seem surprised and ask stupid questions like, "Can she learn anything?"

This special school takes children from 5 through 18. The ones who can learn reading, writing and math. Those who aren't able to handle these subjects are given vocational training. Everyone moves at his own speed. The ones who are equal to specialized training workshop to learn woodwork, commercial painting, farming, how to operate simple machines, baking, carpentry and handicrafts.

Please print my letter as a favor to all parents of retarded children who encounter so much ignorance from people who should know better. — Toronto Mother

Dear Mother: Here it is with my thanks. You have educated several million people today.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are in our fifties. We have had a good marriage for more than 30 years, with fine children and grandchildren.

About a year ago, I discovered my husband's collection of pornographic pictures and literature. I found the collection by accident and it is making me sick.

I could accept another woman in his life easier than this filthy junk. It would not seem so abnormal. A woman could at least do something for him. These dirty pictures and smutty short stories, with language such as I have never heard in all my life, seem so unnatural.

We have discussed this openly and he says it's a hobby, like stamp collecting. He claims there's something wrong with ME because I don't get turned on by it. Tell me, Ann, is something wrong with me — or is it him? — Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear App: You're fine, dear. He's a case of arrested development. Grown men who get their jollies from smutty pictures are like little boys who sneak behind the barn to do naughty things. Bear with him and one day he may get bored — just as a large segment of society is getting bored with dirty movies and naked stage plays.

Dear Ann Landers: I wasn't satisfied with your smart-aleck answer to that 17-year-old boy who wrote to say he was making it with twelve girls and was dead tired all the time. He needed advice and you gave him zilch.

I would be glad to help him out. I am a 16-year-old fellow who isn't making it with anybody. If you will put me in touch with him I'd be happy to take over some of his obligations. I have a motorcycle so it's O.K. if he lives some distance from me. (I live in Vallejo.) Please print this soon so he will know he has a buddy who wants to help. — Randy D. T.L.Q.

Dear Randy: That kid (he lives in Fullerton, Calif.) received dozens of offers of "assistance" from big-hearted fellows who were willing to come from as far away as Boise ... but it is not my policy to put readers in touch with one another. Thanks for your offer, but no dice.

Into Semifinals

Stars Ride Lock's Bat

FARGO, N.D. — Tony Lock, who Wednesday night put the Sedalia Junior Babe Ruth All-Stars into the winner's bracket with a two-hit pitching performance over Minot, N.D., in the opening round of the Midwest Plains Regional Tournament here, started again Thursday night. But this time it was with his bat as he drove in two of the three Sedalia runs and guided the Missouri representatives into the upper bracket semifinals with a 3-1 win over the Brooklyn Center (Minn.) Yankees.

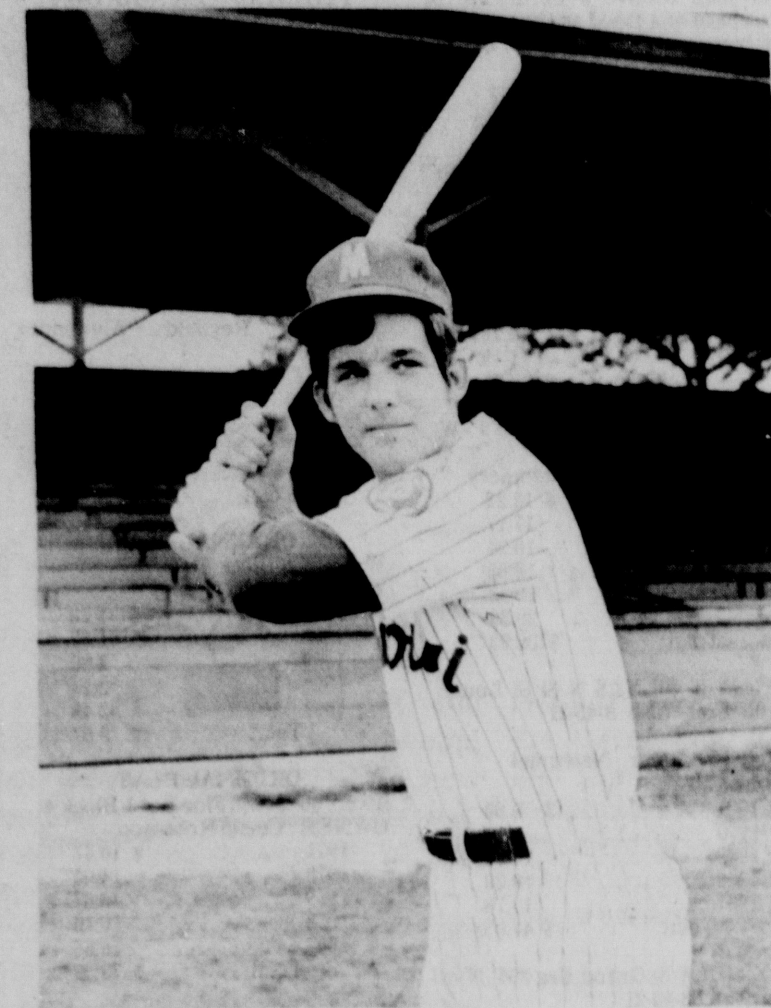

With third baseman Rick McRoy aboard in the bottom of the first and again in the bottom of the third, Lock singled him home both times.

The game, which was billed as the highlight game of Thursday's schedule, was moved up from its original starting time of 9 p.m.

After rain dampened the field earlier in the day, volunteers, equipment, sand and wood chips were used to help dry out the playing surface.

Following the afternoon contests, which saw Iowa drop Kansas into the losers bracket with a 13-7 win, Minot, N.D., eliminate Gering, Neb., and Kansas come back through the loser's bracket and drop South Dakota out of the competition, the Fargo, N.D.-Minot, N.D., game was cancelled until today at 1 p.m. This was done in order that the Sedalia-Brooklyn Center game could be played.

Although there was some discussion on whether or not it should be done, tournament officials and team managers agreed on the meeting.

Tony Lock ... Stars With Bat

Needless to say, Sedalia was happy with the game's outcome, "even if it did throw us off schedule a little," said one of the Sedalia coaches Friday morning.

The win moves Sedalia into Saturday's 2:30 p.m. contest against the winner of the Pueblo, Colo.-Brookings, S.D., contest, which is set for today at 3 p.m.

Two other games are on the Friday schedule: at 7 p.m., Olathe, Kan., takes on Brooklyn Center in a loser's bracket game. The final Friday game at 9 p.m. finds the winner of the Fargo-Minot contest meeting the loser of the Des Moines, Iowa-Pueblo, Colo., game.

Brooklyn Center picked up their lone tally in the game in the top of the fourth, when pitcher Charles Thompson reached first on an infield hit, went to second on a Pete Grove single and traveled to third on a bunt single by Tom Hall.

Thompson scored on a sacrifice bunt by Tony Petroski.

With McRoy at third and second baseman Jim Sanders at second in the bottom of the fifth, shortstop Marvin Spurell squared away to bunt McRoy home. The play backfired as Thompson stepped from the mound and wheeled the ball to third base. McRoy was eventually caught in a run down.

Sanders was moving to third after McRoy left the bag. Catcher Greg LaChance fired the ball to third in an effort to double up Sanders, but the ball traveled into left field, allowing Sanders to check in with the third and final Sedalia run.

Issue Gear

Football equipment for Smith-Cotton freshmen will be issued at 1 p.m. Monday at Jennie Jaynes Stadium. Practice is scheduled to start Aug. 15, the same time the sophomores, juniors and seniors open their workouts.

Assistant freshmen coach David Backer was unsure when physical examinations would be given.

Manager Wes Sanders is now faced with somewhat of a problem on what pitcher to use in Saturday afternoon's contest.

Rather than go with his ace Tony Lock, Sanders may use either McRoy or Jim Vansell. However, Sanders was undecided on his choice.

A win Saturday afternoon would put Sedalia into the upper bracket championship berth, but a loss would force them into a loser's bracket game Saturday night at 9 p.m.

The championship is scheduled to be decided Sunday.

Greg Gooch went the distance as Sedalia carded their second win of the double-elimination tourney. He gave up seven hits, two more than Sedalia managed to pick. Thompson was the loser.

Hauled Down

Houston's Ward Walsh (32) is hauled down after a two-yard loss in Thursday night's pre-season exhibition game in Houston by Chicago Bears' Steve DeLong (87) and Dick Butkus (51).

Chicago scored 10 points in the final quarter of the contest to come from behind and whip the Oilers, 20-17.

(UPI)

Bears FG at :03 Pulls Out Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Refusing to accept a tie, the Chicago Bears used a seldom used rule Thursday night to pave the way for a seven-yard field goal by Mac Percival and a 20-17 exhibition football victory over the Houston Oilers.

Larry Rowden, Chicago linebacker, covered a free kick at the Houston one to enable Percival to kick the winning three-point with just three seconds to play.

Confused Oilers defenders made no attempt to cover the free ball and their new head coach, Bill Peterson, immediately accepted the blame.

"It was our fault," Peterson said. "We simply had not discussed the free kick situation."

The weird ending had its start when Chicago made a fair catch of a punt with 25 seconds to play.

Under both pro and collegiate rules, a team receiving a fair catch has several options, including the free kick, for placing the ball in play. But on a free kick the ball becomes a free ball, meaning any player on the field can claim it by covering it.

Percival made the free kick while using a tee at the Bears' 40. Had the ball gone above the uprights, Percival would have had a 60-yard field goal. Had Rowden covered it in the end zone instead of on the one he would have had a touchdown.

Linzey Cole was among the Oilers who stood in the end zone and watched Rowden cover the ball.

"Someone—I don't know who—kept yelling, 'Don't touch the ball! Don't touch the ball!'" Cole said after the game.

A 20-yard field goal by Mark

Moseley in the third period gave Houston a brief 17-3 lead, but Chicago struck back with drives of 60 and 80 yards. Bobby Douglass scored from the one and Roger Lawson from the nine to gain the 17-17 tie that prompted the late and successful free kick strategy.

Houston dominated the first half as Lynn Dickey, a second year pro quarterback from Kansas State, threw touchdown passes of 45 and 47 yards to Ken Burroughs and Charlie Joiner. A Dickey interception led to a 28-yard field goal by Percival.

Two Changes In Prep Playoffs

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Two changes have been made in football playoff plans announced today by the Missouri State High School Activities Association (MSHSA).

The site for each playoff game will be selected by the qualifying school in a designated district and a new procedure for breaking ties in semifinal games will be used if necessary. If the latter develops, the ball will be placed on the 10-yard line with each team having a series of four downs in which to attempt to score.

The team which has the most points after both teams have had their series of downs will be declared the winner. If there is no winner, the procedure will be repeated.

Each of four classes will have four districts. The teams having the highest rating based on the caliber of competition the school plays will play in the semifinal games Nov. 18.

Finals will be Saturday, Nov. 25.

In each class, the qualifier from district I will be paired with the qualifier from district II, and the qualifier from district III with the qualifier from district IV in semifinal games.

Football practice will begin Aug. 15 with first games to be played Friday, Sept. 8.

As in the past, Class 4A will be for schools with enrollments of 1,201 and more; 3A from 501 to 1,200 students; 2A from 251 to 500 and Class A 250 and under.

Chiefs, Cards Clash

KC Chiefs Unveil New Home

KANSAS CITY — The Kansas City Chiefs begin a new era of professional football Saturday, when they open their home pre-season schedule in new Arrowhead Stadium against the St. Louis Cardinals.

A capacity crowd of 78,000 is expected to be on hand for the inaugural opening of the largest stadium ever built exclusively for professional football.

Arrowhead is part of the twin-stadium Harry S. Truman Sports Complex, the pioneer concept in professional sports stadiums.

The Chiefs head into their third pre-season game of the year looking for their third win in a row after scoring impressive victories over the New York Giants (23-17) and the Chicago Bears (24-10).

Kickoff for the Governor's Cup battle between the two Missouri pro football teams is set for 7:05 p.m.

The Chiefs go into the contest in the best physical condition of the early season. The only Chiefs players on the sidelines will be back-up offensive lineman Sid Smith and runningback Warren McVea. McVea is still recovering from knee surgery, while Smith is recovering from minor surgery on his wrist. Smith, who started the first two pre-season games at offensive right guard, had minor surgery to repair a slight dislocation of a small bone in his wrist. He will miss Saturday night's initial Arrowhead battle, but will be back on the practice field Monday and ready for the Aug. 21 game with the Baltimore Colts in Arrowhead.

Starting right guard Mo Moorman, who missed the first two games due to a slight pulled muscle in his back, will be in the starting lineup for his first game of the pre-season.

Head Coach Hank Stram said he would send his Chiefs into the Saturday game against the Cardinals with "the same philosophy we have in all pre-season games. We want to win, to play as many players as possible and still win, to improve artistically and to get through the game without any injuries," Stram said.

"We accomplished all of these points in our first two pre-season games," added Stram. "Overall, I am pleased with the first two games. Our performance last Saturday against the Bears showed great improvement over our first game with the Giants. Our execution was sharper and more crisp. We did more good things against the Bears and did them better," noted Stram.

The Chiefs had to come from 10 points behind to beat the Bears, who held the ball for more than 13 minutes of the first quarter and were in front

10-0 before the Chiefs could get going. When the Chiefs did get going, they did it in super fashion, tying the score 10-10 at the intermission and then scoring touchdowns in the third and fourth quarter for a 24-10 triumph. Stram praised the work of the offensive line and the defense, which shut out the Bears for the final three quarters and held the Chicago offense to just 45 net total yards in the second half.

The Chiefs are 2-1-2 against the Cardinals in the Governor's Cup battle. Last year's game was a 17-17 tie.

"We don't know very much about the Cardinals," said Stram. "They've made some changes since last year. The two major additions," pointed out Stram, "are quarterback Gary Cuozzo and runningback Donny Anderson." The Cardinals obtained Cuozzo from the Minnesota Vikings and Anderson from the Green Bay Packers in off-season trades.

"These two additions," continued Stram, "give their offense more versatility than they previously displayed." Cuozzo comes in with a winning attitude and a winning record from Minnesota, which runs the same type of offense as the Cardinals. He should be fairly familiar with the Cardinal offensive system. Anderson can do many things very well," pointed out Stram. "He is a good, strong runner and a fine receiver and punter."

The Chiefs roster is at 40 players for Saturday night's game. Stram is expected to start his No. 1 offense with Len Dawson at quarterback, Ed Podolak and Wendell Hayes at runningbacks and Elmo Wright and Otis Taylor at wide receiver. Hayes is off to a good start in the pre-season. He's the Chiefs leading rusher with 108 yards in 18 carries, plus six receptions for 29 yards and two big touchdown catches. Taylor leads Chiefs receivers with six catches for 114 yards and an impressive 19 yards per-catch average.

The first two games statistics show the Chiefs ahead of their opponents in all major categories, including 606 total offense yards compared with the opponents 398.

Softball Play Opens at Two Sites Thursday

In first-round action Thursday night in the Mount Olive Invitational Softball Tournament at Syracuse and Florence, five of the Harmony Baptist Softball Association teams notched wins.

Flat Creek blasted Syracuse Lions, 29-3, with Bill Boatman picking up the win; Smithton topped Mount Olive No. 2, 17-9, as Griffy Tolliver was credited with the victory and Mount Olive No. 1 whipped New Hope behind the pitching of LeRoy Moon, 24-7. All games were played in Syracuse.

In Florence action, Syracuse blanked Stover, 10-0; Howard Jones was the winner. Versailles edged Bethany of Columbia, 10-8, while Nazarene held off Tipton, 9-8. Larry Abbott picked up the win.

Carlen Is Firm On Stand

Editors Note: "Morality Fats," they've called him. But Jim Carlen's got rules and a vigorous recruiting program and desire to bring Texas Tech its first Southwest Conference football championship. Carlen touches on the controversy in his system in this third and final part of a series on SWC recruiting.

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — "In some ways," a Houston writer observed, "Jim Carlen reminds one of the late Vince Lombardi, perhaps the greatest disciplinarian in football history."

"You can't honestly knock his idealistic approach, and you have to admire his guts for speaking out."

Carlen, entering his third year as football coach at Texas Tech, has shown no reluctance to speak his mind.

But aside from a confrontation last year with Tech fans, his vigorous, personalized recruiting program coupled with a hard set of rules attracted the most attention.

When his unbending guidelines were announced, a campus underground newspaper promptly labeled him "Morality Fats."

And, says Carlen, "I think a lot of recruiters from other schools have used it against us very openly and viciously."

On the other hand, he continued, when other coaches find a kid who favors such rules, they well sell those rules as if they were their own.

In the competitive arena of schoolboy recruiting, such matters are more than delicate.

"I don't want to have any foolish rules," Carlen said in an interview. "We have rules we think are basic."

"The rule most discussed against us is our church rule."

"... I've never said a boy had to go to any church... I just think a youngster needs faith. I think it's one thing a lot of young people are missing right now."

"But if a kid tells me he's an atheist and his folks go along with it, I don't ever say another word."

"We advocate not drinking alcohol, taking drugs, smoking cigarettes—12 months a year."

"We have mandatory class attendance until a boy's a senior."

The rules' appeal to parents has been a positive recruiting tool, he said.

"I visit every home of every football player so I can meet the family," Carlen said. "And I give them our rules, which I guess are a little more stern than most rules. But most homes have tougher rules than we have. We just try to continue on."

Carlen approved SWC elimination of lavish entertainment of prospects, which "got really out of hand."

The high recruiting drama in the SWC comes in February on the eve of the first signing day. Carlen confers by telephone through the night with his coaches at strategic areas around the state.

"If a coach says he needs me in his particular area, then I work it out with a private plane to get there... but you can't be everywhere at 8 a.m., which is signing time."

Pats On Road To Improvement

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots, who regained respectability with the arrival of Jim Plunkett and a new stadium in 1971, hope for continued improvement this year with the ultimate goal the National Football League's Super Bowl.

"We are totally committed to winning," Coach John Mazur said.

With Plunkett directing every play at quarterback, the Patriots shook the role of doorman with six victories last season.

the most by the club in five years.

Plunkett, former Stanford All-American, made the big jump to the pros with ease and earned rookie of the year honors in the American Conference. He completed 158 of 328 passes for 2,158 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Figuring that Plunkett has improved 100 per cent in reading defenses, the Patriots plan to open their attack to capitalize on his mobility and throwing arm. The running backs will be sent out more often on pass patterns, with emphasis on speed and good hands.

Carl Garrett, a veteran who gained 784 yards on the ground last year, is assured of one backfield berth. The other is up for grabs with the trade of veteran fullback Jim Nance to Philadelphia.

Little Randy Vataha, who was a big surprise as he caught 51 passes for nine touchdowns as a rookie in 1971, again figures to be Plunkett's favorite target as a wide receiver. The two starred together at Stanford, but Vataha was considered too small for the pros until the Patriots gave him a chance at the suggestion of Plunkett.

Veterans Hubie Bryant and Reggie Rucker and rookie Tom Reynolds, New England's top draft choice from San Diego State, are waging a stiff battle in training camp for the other wide receiver berth. General Manager Upton Bell calls Reynolds "a potential superstar."

The Patriots feel they finally have filled one problem spot in recently acquiring veteran tight end Bob Windsor from the San Francisco 49ers for a No. 1 draft pick in 1974.

The offensive line is set with veteran center Jon Morris in the middle for guards Len St. Jean and Halvor Hagen and tackles Mike Montler and Tom Neville.

Defense could be the Patriots biggest weakness. In compiling a 6-8 record last year, New England was outscored 237-190 and surrendered more than 3,000 yards to opponents.

1971 record: 6-8.

Team's strong points: passing attack led by quarterback Jim Plunkett. Sophomore receiver Randy Vataha and rookie Tom Reynolds. Jim White on the defensive line with sophomore Julius Adams moving from tackle to end to bolster pass rush.

Team's weaknesses: Inexperience at linebacker. Offensive line usual question mark, and replacement needed at fullback.

New Faces: wide receiver Tom Reynolds from San Diego State; defensive lineman Jim White from Colorado State; rookie linebackers Dick Blanchard and Ken Price, and veteran tight end Bob Windsor, acquired from San Francisco.

Fraser only races for a hobby, but that hobby has thus far netted him a pretty good sum. He won $800 for picking up the Kansas 200 checkered flag. He also is currently in 10th place in the IMCA stock car standings, a position he will probably try to better, when he vies in the Missouri State Fair stock car events on Aug. 20 and 26.

However, he is after his third stock car title in four seasons at Capital Speedway, a points race that he is currently leading. But Windsor, Mo., pilot Shorty Acker and Wib Spaulding of Granite City, Ill., are right behind him in the standings.

Fraser still contends that he races for a hobby only, but check his name in the results. More often than not he is in the winner's circle, and he could well be at the Fair in his 1970 Camaro.

Quarter Horses To Vie In Rich $146,000 Purse

The Missouri State Fair will play host to quarter horse races this year that feature total purses in excess of $146,000. Trial heat races for the finale Aug. 24 will start Saturday and Sunday, when 128 two and three year-olds vie for a share of that money.

Howard Long, secretary of the races and himself a race promoter and track owner in Springfield, Ark., told The Democrat-Capital, stables and horses from 17 states will be represented in the big money events. Each of the 128 horses entered has put up a $600 entry fee, which goes into the purse. The balance of the purse is supplied by the Missouri Breeder's and Racing Association.

He explained that the money has been divided into two major divisions, a futurity for two year-old colts with total prizes of $104,375 and a derby for three year-olds whose purse is $42,500. In addition a championship for aged horses (over three years of age) will fill out the eight trial heats, which will be run daily Aug. 12, 13, 18, 22, and 23. The top ten horses in each of the three categories will be featured in the races for the big prizes Aug. 24.

The winners in the futurity and derby races Aug. 24 will take home 30 per cent of the total purses in their divisions. Consolation races for the second set of ten fastest in the derby and the second and third sets of ten fastest horses in the futurity will also be held the last day.

Long noted that for the first set of trials Saturday and Sunday mornings (8 a.m. to noon) there will be no admission and the grandstand at the fairgrounds will be open to the public.

that track has now been switched to asphalt. David Goldsberry, Bolivar, Mo., was the last Missouri driver to win an IMCA event.

Fraser and Crew

Tom Frasher (center, back row) and his Kral Garage-Drake Marine Camaro take time out from racing to pose for a picture at Capital Speedway, near Jefferson City. Frasher won the recent Kansas 200 at the Mid-America Fairgrounds in Topeka, Kan., putting him in 10th position in the stock car standings.

The 1972 chapter of the Sedalia Ban Johnson baseball season is now history. And some players and local league officials have stated that this may be the last year for Sedalia in the now seven-team loop.

Much of this seems to stem from the recent developments and finally the nearly-unbelievable loss of the western division championship.

Sedalia had virtually wrapped up the west title by mid-July, as they were riding atop a 10-game winning streak. Then the bottom fell out.

Whether it was or wasn't the two-run homer smacked by Columbia first baseman Bill Cox on July 15 in Liberty Park Stadium that started all the turmoil, at least from that point until Wednesday night's 12-10 loss to Boonville in a playoff game on the Sedalia field, the season seemed to go nowhere but down.

Sedalia and Columbia met for the first time on that date... both teams were undefeated... something had to give.

Cox launched one of the longest home runs ever hit out of Liberty Park Stadium over the left field fence. "It was as high as those light wires," exclaimed one observer after the ball shot out of the park. "It's the hardest hit ball I've ever seen here," he added.

Sedalia played catch-up the rest of the game, but was never quite able to get the upper hand. They had to settle for an 8-6 loss, their first of the season.

Sedalia manager "Salty" Schumaker said he was going to protest the game because Willie Jenkins, Sedalia, was behind the plate. However, nothing ever became of the protest.

Rain forced cancellation of the July 18 contest in Marshall, but Sedalia dropped their second game in a row on July 20 in Liberty Park Stadium, as Boonville posted a 6-4 win. At that game, nothing serious happened but tempers were short and some words were exchanged.

Sedalia was able to win their next game and inch closer to the western division championship with a 7-6, 10-inning victory over Centralia.

Sedalia lost their third game in four starts when they saw Marshall post a 5-3 victory in a make-up game for the July 18 rain-out.

And on July 25, Sedalia notched a 4-1 win over New Franklin to run their record to 12-3.

However, little did the team know what was just around the corner or that the July 25 contest would be the last time that they would see the victory circle. From then on it was an uphill struggle, one in which Sedalia was never to get to the top.

Boonville now had moved into striking distance of Sedalia in the west standings. But they still needed to win all of their remaining games to have even a chance at a tie. On the other hand, Sedalia needed only one win to seal up the pennant. That win never came.

Sedalia and Boonville met in a make-up contest on July 27 in Boonville to play a game that was originally scheduled for June 20, but had to be postponed because the umpires failed to show.

Rain washed out a 3-0 lead in the July 27 make-up, forcing another postponement. When the contest was restarted on Aug. 1 the final chapter in the Sedalia season opened.

By the time the game was over, Sedalia had lost by a 9-0 forfeit, lost the services of their manager (Salty Schumaker) for the rest of the season because he struck an umpire and found themselves two losses away from having to go into a playoff with Boonville for the western division title.

That's just what happened. Sedalia lost their final two make-up games, while Boonville won their last two, throwing the western division race into a tie, with each team sporting 12-6 records.

Sedalia was scheduled as the site of the playoff Monday, and after the smoke had cleared, this paper's headline read, "Sedalia Wins BJ West Title." Little did we know what was going on in Boonville and Columbia.

Boonville manager Don Linhart filed a protest with league commissioner Hank Steer over the use of a "black bat" used by a Sedalia player. The player, shortstop Pete Green, had singled, doubled and homered in the Monday 5-4, 10-inning Sedalia win.

Steer, who is reported by one source to be a Boonville native, upheld the protest and ordered another game here Wednesday night.

Sponsors, fans, players and even normally quiet bystanders were grumbling as they ventured into the ball park for what was to be the final and deciding game.

However, once Sedalia vaulted into a 5-0 lead in the second inning off starting pitcher Huber Stover, almost everyone started forgetting about the past experiences with Boonville.

But things changed... just about as often as the lead did in that Wednesday game.

And finally at 11:08 p.m. it was all over. Two long struggles, one that saw Boonville go back home with the western division championship and the other that saw the last hopes of a Sedalia crown turned off, had come to an end.

As the players and fans filed out of the park many hoped that next season would bring a different story. But as first baseman Scott Schumaker put it... "this is it... it's the end of Ban Johnson Baseball here... we've lost our sponsor and a lot of us have lost our enthusiasm because some people want to play by 'sand lot rules.'"

If things don't change by next season, Schumaker's words may well come true.

However, if the sponsors, players or even the fans want to quit just because they are sore losers, then maybe it IS best that Ban Johnson Baseball no longer be a part of the summer recreation program here.

We would certainly hope that the opposite is true and that the team regroup and set out again in 1973 in quest of the elusive western division championship.

Opening lead—♥ 9

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One of our pet hates is the three no-trump response to show an opening no-trump. If opener has a good hand it makes slam bidding difficult; on other occasions a good major suit fit is lost forever.

If you do want to use this bid, restrict it to 4-3-3 distribution with all side suits well stopped and it won't hurt you much.

Here is a hand from the world's mixed teams that shows one of these three no-trump bidders incurring a tremendous loss.

At most tables the final contract was four spades with declarer making either four or five.

At this table, South jumped to three no-trump. The spade suit was completely lost and while three no-trump should have wheeled in, this declarer managed to follow up his bad bid with worse play and wind up in the soup.

The first trick found the nine, 10, jack and queen of hearts on the table with South's queen the winner. He entered dummy with a spade and for some reason best known to himself tried the diamond finesse. West took his king and led the eight of hearts.

South could have hopped up with dummy's king and made four no-trump, but after long thought he played low whereupon West ran off the rest of the heart suit and set South one trick.

Massacre Interrupted Flight From Quang Tri City

EDITOR'S NOTE — Soldiers and fleeing civilians died in the South Vietnamese retreat from Quang Tri late in April. A State Department report has told of a massacre of 1,000 to 2,000 civilians by the North Vietnamese. An Associated Press correspondent who spent most of the past four months on the northern front examines the episode in the following analysis.

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Hundreds of South Vietnamese were killed trying to escape from Quang Tri City before its fall. The slaughter was indiscriminate, by definition a massacre.

But from evidence at the scene and in the aftermath, the action April 29-30 was not "a deliberate North Vietnamese army massacre of helpless civilians," as State Department spokesman John King described it.

The carnage suggested a cold-blooded North Vietnamese resolve to stop all traffic on Highway 1, in callous disregard of civilian targets. But there was no evidence of a deliberate intent to single out the civilian refugees.

More than half the victims were South Vietnamese soldiers, and Washington's estimate of 1,000 to 2,000 dead seems inflated.

Interviews with survivors of the massacre and a visual inspection of the death site indicate 200 to 600 dead. Panic was a major contributing factor to the bloodshed.

North Vietnamese forces surrounded Quang Tri and cut Highway 1, its southern escape route to Hue, a week before the fall of the province capital. South Vietnamese marines who were given the job of reopening the highway fought their way to within eight miles of Quang Tri. Three convoys of South Vietnamese troops and civilians tried to flee southward on Highway 1 between April 24 and 30. They were ambushed by North Vietnamese forces entrenched on both sides of the highway, four to eight miles southeast of Quang Tri.

This correspondent was with South Vietnamese marines who fought their way to the southernmost ambush site April 30. Wounded survivors who passed the advancing marines said their convoy had been hit by mines, mortars, rocket grenades and small-arms fire from North Vietnamese dug in as close as 20 yards to the roadway.

According to the State Department, the North Vietnamese used antipersonnel artillery shells with fuses set for air bursts, which "shredded the refugee column" with sprays of shrapnel.

But frontline witnesses reported no air bursts before April 30 — any such would have killed troops of the enemy's own ambush force as well as the fleeing South Vietnamese.

Air bursts were fired by North Vietnamese gunners April 30-May 1 and many civilians were hit. By then the civilians were intermingled with South Vietnamese rangers fighting their way out of Quang Tri.

Only a small portion of one ambushed convoy was visible from the South Vietnamese lines in those last hectic days before the fall of Quang Tri. The full savagery of the slaughter did not become apparent until two months later, when Saigon's paratroopers returned to the scene at the spearhead of a counteroffensive. This correspondent was with the paratroopers.

Hundreds of wrecked vehicles and corpses littered a four-mile stretch of Highway 1. Four out of five vehicles were military — Jeeps, trucks, tanks, armored personnel carriers, artillery pieces and ambulances. Civilian vehicles included buses, motorcycles and bicycles.

Civilian and military vehicles were jumbled so close together it was obvious the North Vietnamese could not fire on one without hitting the other. The concentration of wreckage at certain points also indicated panic on the part of the South Vietnamese.

Convoy drivers appeared to have been so intent on fleeing Quang Tri they continued to drive into withering fire even after lead vehicles were hit and the highway was blocked.

Graves registration workers found 186 civilians dead at ambush sites.

It is not known how many military dead were recovered. South Vietnamese officials did not announce the military toll, and informants only knew of a burial service for 40 unidentified soldiers. It appears, however, that most of the victims were soldiers because most of the wrecked vehicles were military.

Several hundred bodies are believed to have been destroyed by decomposition over a two-month period in Quang Tri's searing dry season and through napalm strikes by American planes to prevent the enemy from using South Vietnamese military equipment at the ambush sites.

Bulldozers that cleared the highway at the start of Saigon's counteroffensive piled unrecognizable remains in heaps along with the wreckage of vehicles.

One American here who says he contributed to the report asserts he clearly informed the State Department that 100-200 civilians had been killed in the ambushes. He could not explain how the figure had risen to 1,000 to 2,000 except to say: "There must have been a screwup somewhere along the line."

Russian Exhibit

A large tapestry depicting a cosmonaut formed a backdrop for a Lunokhod 1 moon explorer, part of the Russian exhibit at Unimart '72 in Seattle, Wash. Ellsberg, Russo Planning Campaign Against Nixon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo say they will use the time from their postponed Pentagon Papers trial to make antiwar speeches and campaign against President Nixon.

"This administration is a menace to the rights of American citizens," said Ellsberg. He accused the government of "using the charges in this case to frighten other citizens out of revealing what they know about government lies, deception and criminal behavior."

Ellsberg, 41, and Russo, 35, former Rand Corp. researchers on government projects, are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft in connection with the leak to news media of the top secret Pentagon Papers detailing origins of the Vietnam war.

The trial was halted before opening arguments by a wiretap dispute after jurors had already been sworn in. The U.S. Supreme Court has given defense attorneys time to file petitions for a high court hearing on the matter and probably won't rule on that until the justices reconvene in October.

The issue involves the government's refusal to disclose logs of a wiretapped conversation in which a defense attorney or consultant was overheard talking to a person unconnected with the trial.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne, who summoned jurors to his court Wednesday, told the 12 regular jurors and six alternates to remain on call.

Byrne told them they would be summoned to court again in October, either for the trial's resumption or further instructions. Attorneys in the case say this may be the first time in legal history a sworn jury is being left in limbo for such an extended period.

At a news conference following the court session, Ellsberg and Russo revealed their speaking plans.

"I will be working as hard as I can to end this war and working against the election of President Nixon, whom I consider a criminal and an outlaw," Russo said.

Ellsberg, whose contract as a researcher at Massachusetts Institute of Technology expired June 30, said, "I'm now free full time to talk to anybody who will listen to me about the fact that the war goes on ... The survival of the Vietnamese people depends on Richard Nixon not being elected for another term."

Neither Ellsberg nor Russo would say that they are backing Democratic George McGovern, noting that an endorsement by defendants awaiting trial might not be a bonus to any candidate.

Election Forecast

Appears Accurate

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — It looks as if Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick hit almost on the nose in his pre-election forecast that 1 million votes would be cast in Missouri's primary election.

The total apparently will fall about 25,000 short of the 1936 record of 1,035,000, Kirkpatrick's aides said Thursday.

The unofficial total compiled by The Associated Press came to 990,841 with seven precincts and about 5,000 absentee ballots uncounted.

Democrats cast 641,000 votes in their 10-man race for the governorship nomination and Republicans cast 348,000 in the five-man GOP race.

Out of 42 candidates for state office, Kirkpatrick was the biggest vote getter with 452,000, second only to the 453,000 cast for the constitutional amendment to reorganize the state government.

Kirkpatrick expects to start his official canvass of the primary balloting Aug. 24 and finish by Sept. 1.

For a Missouri Girl

The signing of this contract provided a $1,000 scholarship for some yet-to-be-named Missouri girl. W. C. Ream, right, general manager of the Sedalia Pepsi Cola plant, signs the document that will give the girl who is crowned Missouri Queen of Fairs Aug. 20, the scholarship. W. C. Askew, fair secretary, made the arrangements for the cash prize — which is the second time that the local firm has made a major contribution to the Missouri Fair queen.

Attacks Candidacy

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sam Nakis, the head of an organization representing two million Greek-Americans attacked Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern's recent call for an end to U.S. aid to Greece in a statement here Thursday.

McGovern's attitude may have been unduly influenced by journalist Elias Demetracopoulos, who has been critical of Greece's military regime, said Nakis of suburban Hazelwood.

Nakis is president of the 50,000-member American Hellenic Education Progressive Association.

McGovern "is forgetting the indisputable fact that Greece today is our lone ally in that part of the world," Nakis contended.

"Whatever he may personally find objectionable in the present Greek government, our Sixth Fleet would be a fleet without a port were it not for the accommodations offered," Nakis said.

"Our military aid to Greece, while ensuring the continuation of an Independent Greece, must primarily be viewed as an essential factor of the U.S. defense establishment," he said.

Nakis added that Sen. McGovern should take a trip to Greece to gain a better understanding of the situation in that country.

Dressing Up Television Newscasts

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Throughout TV land, the evening local news show often comes forth like an electronic age Chautauqua. About the only things missing are a banjo introduction and a Hopi band doing a ceremonial rain dance.

In perhaps 100 cities, local television stations have attempted to zap up news presentation in the highly successful manner achieved by New York's ABC Channel 7 "Eyewitness News."

The format calls for a variety of "communicators" in a relaxed and somewhat informal setting. They do not give the news so much as "discuss" it. The premise is that the viewer feels as though he is included in a conversation among well-informed, agreeable, exciting personalities.

At Channel 7, it works wonderfully well.

Elsewhere, the imitators sometimes fall into bad taste, stupidity and plain dumb demonstrations of their amateurism as actors and-or newsmen. At one station out West, for example, a report of a sordid murder was followed almost immediately by some childish by-play in which the on-camera "communicator" could not suppress laughter.

Back at ABC's Channel 7, on the 18th floor of the executive building along Manhattan's Avenue of the Americas, sits the 37-year-old TV inventor of the new format: Albert T. Primo.

Sometimes, hearing of what is going on at other stations, he may ask what he hath wrought. If he doesn't, others do.

What hath you wrought, he was asked.

"The second generation of television news journalism," he said. "We are serious and conscientious as newsmen. The difference with traditional TV journalism is that we are more informal and our reporting is made more understandable in the human terms of our viewers."

As to the news content and the approach to news, Primo said the key difference came in shifting emphasis from what happened to what does it mean to me?

It all began Nov. 17, 1968, with the Eyewitness label and Roger Grimsby, whose sort of tough guy, headline, no-nonsense news reporter image projected a bit of the traditional, conventional newsmen, and Bill Beutel, whose youthfulness and good looks had patent appeal for the pre-Gettysburg set, as coanchors.

Primo also began to switch an old practice in the news business: instead of training reporters to become experts in various specialized fields, Primo trained the experts as newsmen.

And so, Frank Gifford, the flashy pro football star, and Jim Bouton, a more than literate baseball player, took on sports reporting chores. Kevin Sanders came on as the sort of house intellectual — an at-large critic on all matters cultural. Melba Tolliver, an attractive young black woman, was discovered in the ABC steno pool and was sent to school to learn journalism and return as a reporter. Geraldo Rivera, a Puerto Rican who was a storefront lawyer, is the show's people expert.

Asked whether this blend might not be the same as the cynical political ploy in which a party figures it needs one Catholic, one Jew, one Protestant, one black, one farmer, one this and one that, Primo said such factors played a role but that the thing was to find people who complemented one another and who worked well together. One criticism of the format of such news shows is that there

ABC-TV local news on Channel 7 moved from being non-competitive (as far as the ratings) to by-passing both CBS and NBC.

For Primo, it has brought him the 18th floor office and a new title: vice president news.

What Primo hath wrought has had its rewards. is a good bit of horseplay and inside gags which intrude on the delivery of news and tarnishes its quality. Primo said there was a danger that this could happen but that it was the job and duty of the news director or producer to keep the show disciplined.

Texans At Campvention

While their father is busy installing the fixtures, Donald Rogstand, 13, and his sister, Wendi, 15, get a car-top view of the second Central West Regional Campvention of the National Campers and Hikers Association (NCHA) that began Thursday morning at the State Fair camping grounds. The convention, which will run through Saturday evening, began with about 500 campers from states as far as North Dakota and Texas.

By Saturday there will be about 1,000 camping units with nearly 4,000 campers here, according to Dick Ledbetter, Springfield, Missouri NCHA director. Visitors are only allowed to drive through the area between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Saturday, he added. Ledbetter said he appreciated the efforts of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce in helping NCHA to have the campvention here. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

Challenges Nixon

McGovern Begins Campaign

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Sen. George McGovern started his first major campaign swing on Thursday with another challenge to President Nixon to join him in broadcast debates.

The Democratic presidential nominee spent the day chatting with workers in a shoe factory in Manchester, N.H., shaking hands on street corners and talking with employees at a Hartford, Conn., insurance company headquarters.

Flying from Washington to New Hampshire, he issued a statement on the debates and said Nixon "has given no respectable reason" for refusing an earlier challenge.

Later, at a news conference outside the McElwain Co. in Manchester, McGovern said he'd split the cost of such debates if Congress doesn't repeal or suspend the equal-time requirement that discourages broadcasters from donating free air time.

He said he wasn't worried by the latest Louis Harris poll showing him trailing Nixon by 23 percentage points in voter preference or by former Treasury Secretary John Connally's announcement Wednesday of a list of prominent Democrats supporting the President.

"I don't think it's just an accident that all these big fatcat tycoons are lining up behind Richard Nixon," McGovern said. "Does it really surprise anybody that the big oil billionaires of Texas are supporting Richard Nixon? He's not for us. He's not for the ordinary people, and neither are the oil billionaires."

The South Dakota senator criticized Nixon for not revealing the names of his early campaign contributors and said his own money is "going to come from ordinary citizens all across this land."

McGovern picked up 37 per cent of the vote in that primary, the nation's first, coming in second to then front-runner, Edmund Muskie, who got 46.4 per cent.

Laird Criticizes McGovern's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird issued a lengthy document Thursday which accused Sen. George McGovern of disseminating "mythology" in his defense spending slash.

"The American people will not be taken in by any politicians who advocates a $30 billion cut in defense spending," Laird said at the news conference releasing the 193 page study.

"I believe very strongly," he said, "that when it comes to national security, the American people don't want mythology, they want facts."

Clark MacGregor, President Nixon's campaign director, also accused McGovern Thursday of feeding Americans "a steady diet of abusive rhetoric." He said the Democratic nominee's attacks on Nixon's economic policy have been "overblown and ill tempered."

There were also these GOP developments:

—Teamsters president Frank E. Fitzsimmons, a Nixon supporter, said McGovern has distorted Nixon's record in trying to woo organized labor's support.

—The White House said that in the coming campaign, Nixon "feels the press should not be an issue."

—Rep. Donald M. Riegle Jr., a liberal GOP congressman, said the Platform Committee's witness list in Miami Beach has been stacked to favor only witnesses friendly to Nixon's policies.

—Republican members of the National Women's Political Caucus said they will try to get the party to strive for equal representation of women and men for the 1976 convention.

The publication prepared by Defense Department comptroller Robert C. Moot, entitled "The Economics of Defense Spending—a Look at the Realities," will be a basic Pentagon document in the Nixon administration's campaign to counter defense critics and win congressional appropriations this fall.

McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, has proposed a $55-billion defense budget by fiscal 1975—compared with a minimum of $85 billion he figures the Pentagon would want by then—saying this can be done without "a major scaling down in real American security interests."

The Pentagon study said defense spending already has been cut to a peacetime rate, to the lowest level in real terms in 22 years.

The planned outlay of $78.3 billion for the current fiscal 1973 year begun July 1, it said, will buy less in manpower and weapons than any defense budget since the pre-Korean war year of 1950.

It listed national defense spending then, when the dollar went a lot further, at $13.1 billion.

Costly Fire Points Out Need For Inspection

City Building Inspector Woodrow Garrison Thursday said the fire which destroyed the nearly new $27,000 modular home of Virgil Bowers on Route F Tuesday "clearly indicates that we absolutely need a county building inspector."

A Pettis County fire department spokesman Tuesday attributed the blaze to faulty electrical wiring. Elaborating Thursday, another fire department spokesman said the blaze started in the middle of the house.

Garrison, named last winter to the state board of building inspectors and industrial housing manufacturers, said the group will meet in Columbia Aug. 18 to complete a proposal for a state-wide standardized inspection code for mobile and modular homes. They hope to offer the plan for the state legislature's consideration at its next session.

According to Garrison, the group is currently coordinating requirements included in 13 separate construction codes that cover plumbing, mechanical, electrical and building inspection guidelines.

The advantages of a standardized code, Garrison said, is obvious when the overall mobility of the American people is considered.

Labor Troubles Are Facing Fair

By JACK SCHICHT

Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Preparations for the Missouri State Fair, scheduled to open Aug. 18, have been delayed, and if the situation worsens in the next few days, Fair Secretary W. C. Askew has indicated he may have to cancel the fair this year.

Askew indicated that closing the Fair was only one option he had as an alternative to a possible work stoppage. He mentioned temporary electrical shutdowns as another possibility.

Askew also said there was enough time to complete the necessary arrangements required to have the Fair.

The work slowdown at the fairgrounds began Aug. 1 when Plumbers Local No. 8, Kansas City, placed three pickets at entrances to the fairgrounds to protest the fact that plumbing work on the grounds was being done by the Mid-Missouri Plumbing and Heating Co., a non-union firm.

Mack Kell, owner of the plumbing firm, did not renew a contract with the union June 1, the date his old contract expired. Mid-Missouri Plumbing and Heating is contracted with the state to do all the plumbing work in connection with the Fair.

One of the three union men manning picket lines, who refused to be identified, said Thursday that some members of other unions have refused to honor the picket line. By noon Thursday, telephone workers, carpenters and teamsters were reportedly either working or delivering goods inside the picket lines according to Askew. The only noticeable absence was that of electricians, whose services perhaps are needed the most in order to have the fair.

A spokesman for Queen City Electric Co., the Sedalia firm contracted to do most of the electrical work for the Fair, indicated that he expected his company to start installing electrical equipment at the fairgrounds Thursday afternoon.

No Queen City employees have reportedly been working at the fairgrounds.

However, Herb Ford, local business representative for the electrical workers union, indicated that if Plumbers Local No. 8 decides to place pickets at all 13 entrances to the fairgrounds, instead of three, a complete work shutdown would probably result.

Some union officials indicated that having pickets placed at only 3 of the 13 entrances does not constitute a valid picket line. Thus, workers are not technically breaking picket lines by working within the fairgrounds.

According to Jack Mainey, business manager for the plumbers union, the pickets will leave if Kell agrees to terms with the union. Kell was not available for comment, but Mainey indicated he has made no headway with Kell in an attempt to come to an agreement.

Even if the electrical workers were to start work either Thursday or Friday they still may not be able to finish the necessary electrical jobs needed to put the fair completely into shape electrically.

When contacted Thursday afternoon, Mainey said he had no immediate plans to increase the number of pickets to 13. A Teamsters Union official said many truck drivers are going in the entrances where there are no pickets. Others are reportedly honoring the pickets and State Fair trucks have been driving to the gates and picking up freight from the Teamster-driven trucks.

One employee at the Fair said he did not see how the Fair could be fully operative by Aug. 18.

House Rejects Mandate To Pull Out U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a victory for President Nixon, the House Thursday rejected 228 to 178 a mandate to pull U.S. forces out of the Indochina war by Oct. 1 in return for release of American prisoners and a limited ceasefire.

Friends and foes of the proposed directive said it would not by itself have forced U.S. forces out of the war. But Nixon's critics said it would have imposed a new war bargaining position on him and registered American discontent.

The House vote removed the war pullout provision from a pending $2.1-billion foreign-military-aid bill.

The House passed the bill 221 to 172 and sent it to the Senate which earlier killed its version of the military-assistance bill.

The vote was the closest yet in the House on an end-the-war measure. Last November an attempt to cut off money this July 1 failed 238-163.

After Thursday's vote, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said: "We are pleased the House rejected this amendment which we opposed."

The motion to strike the war pullout mandate was made by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., who said Nixon would not accept its limitations on his effort to negotiate peace.

"We're giving the President a blank check for no one knows how long in the future to continue the war," argued Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr. "We have a right to ask the President to change his terms."

Democratic Whip Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts told the House the war pullout directive probably would never become law if the House approved it but urged House support as "an expression of how the American people feel about this war."

Note South, North Both Report Gains

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy infantry overran two South Vietnamese positions in the central highlands, field reports said Thursday, while government forces cleared the southern sector of Quang Tri and destroyed 14 North Vietnamese tanks in an air attack outside the northern provincial capital.

The government of neighboring Cambodia charged, meanwhile, it has been the victim of a "major attack" by North Vietnam and declared the capital of Phnom Penh may be threatened.

Enemy infantry charged through a South Vietnamese position in the highlands 20 miles southwest of Pleiku on Wednesday night. They scattered 300 or so militiamen, killing 15 of them and wounding 20 more. Ten others are missing.

In a simultaneous attack, Communist-led troops drove 100 militiamen from the nearby hamlet of Thanh Giao.

The North Vietnamese were estimated to have suffered up to 100 dead in subsequent air and artillery strikes.

It was the first major flareup in the highlands since the North Vietnamese were driven out of the city of Kontum in early June.

South Vietnamese marines on the northern front, making a significant advance for the first time in two weeks, reached the eastern end of a broken bridge across the Thach Han River which forms the western boundary of Quang Tri.

Only a handful of enemy snipers remained in the ruins of the city, south of the Citadel. But a battalion of North Vietnamese—about 400 men—still was entrenched inside the old walled fortress.

A communique issued in the northern military headquarters of Hue claimed government warplanes destroyed 14 enemy tanks and four trucks and killed 15 soldiers in raids on North Vietnamese concentrations six miles southwest of Quang Tri.

U.S. bombers knocked out four more tanks on the city outskirts, field reports said. About 430 enemy tanks have been destroyed since the start of the North Vietnamese offensive last March 30, according to allied claims.

Associated Press correspondent Robin Mannock reported from Phnom Penh that a series of attacks by enemy infantry, backed for the first time in Cambodia by heavy tanks, has jeopardized what little is left of the government's hold on the east bank of the Mekong River.

Hot races building up for November

Now that the carnage of the primary election is over in Missouri, the two parties are emerging with strong candidates who will be competing in the November general election.

Both gubernatorial candidates proved winners by big margins. State Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond by a landslide, and Edward L. Dowd with roughly a 120,000 vote margin. Together they will give Missourians one of the hardest-fought races for governor seen in many years.

To our mind Dowd will have a big plus in his running mate, Rep. Jack Schramm. In defeating House Speaker James E. Godfrey by about 73,000 votes Tuesday, Schramm demonstrated a strong appeal with voters.

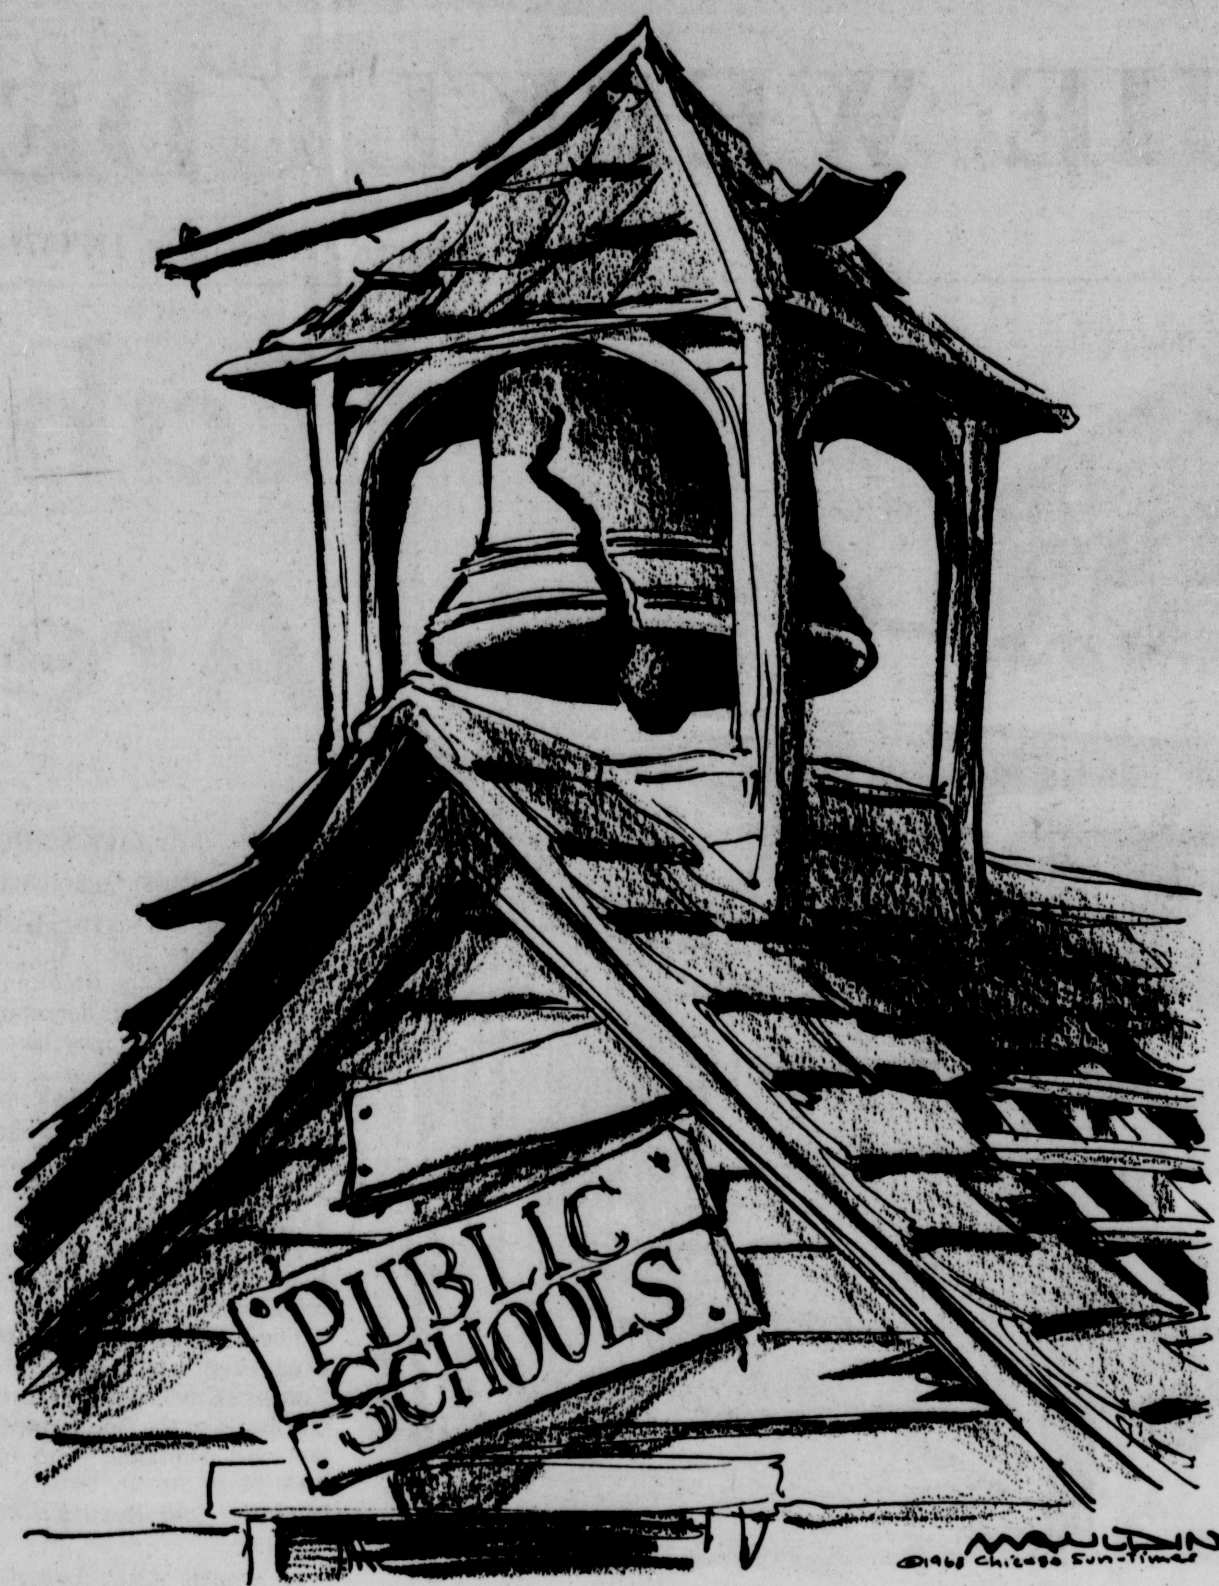

William C. Phelps' razor-thin victory over Joseph L. Badaracco in the Republican race for lieutenant governor gives Bond an attractive running mate. But as a matter of practical politics, Badaracco might have been a greater asset to Bond, since he would have run well in St. Louis, Dowd's home territory as well as Schramm's.

One state office that Republicans are particularly anxious to win is that of state treasurer. That contest looks like it will be much closer now with James I. Spainhower's primary victory over Rep. E. J. "Lucky" Cantrell. Rep. George Parker of Columbia can be expected to press hard for the election from the Republican side, but no doubt would have felt more comfortable facing Cantrell in November.

Two remaining contests look fairly safe for the incumbents this year. We would expect Attorney General John Danforth to fend off a Democratic challenge from Rep. James Spain, although Spain cannot be taken for granted and has shown that he intends to run a hard race.

Even Secretary of State James Kirkpatrick, who walked to victory in two previous elections, is expecting some strong competition from Republican Harold "Wheels" Kuehle in November.

All in all it should be a hot time in Missouri in November, with Republicans looking for rides on some potentially long coattails, and Democrats determined to hold onto power in the state.

'Musical sabotage' plot proved false

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The FBI failed to make good the late J. Edgar Hoover's startling charge that the Berrigan bunch had plotted to kidnap presidential adviser Henry Kissinger.

It now develops that the FBI turned in still another false alarm about a Berrigan "plot" to commit musical sabotage.

The G-men solemnly warned the White House that Father Dan Berrigan was conspiring with renowned conductor Leonard Bernstein to embarrass the Nixon administration. The alleged scheme was to dupe high officials, possibly even the President himself, into applauding an antiwar oratorio at the Kennedy Center.

The FBI warning, delivered to presidential assistant H. R. Haldeman on July 12, 1971, caused some backstage scurrying to make sure that Bernstein's production didn't contain a hidden antiwar message in Latin.

The confidential FBI message, citing a "valuable confidential source," advised that "Leonard Bernstein, noted conductor, has been commissioned by the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, Washington, D.C., to compose music for the dedication of the Kennedy Center."

"Bernstein has composed a 'mass oratorium' and reportedly visited Daniel Berrigan at the Federal Correctional Institution (FCI), Danbury, Connecticut, within the past three weeks and persuaded him to compose words for his music."

Bernstein's mass "will follow an antiwar theme, will be in Latin and sung by a choir at the dedication ceremony," confided the FBI.

"Important government officials, perhaps even the President, are expected to attend this ceremony, and it is anticipated they will applaud the composition without recognizing the true meaning of the words."

"The source advised that the newspapers would be given the story the following day that the President and other high-ranking government officials applauded an anti-government song.

"The source advised that Daniel Berrigan had not completed composing the words, which when finished will have to be smuggled out of the FCI at Danbury."

Aghast, White House aides contacted Roger Stevens, head of the Kennedy Center, and asked whether he had heard about the bizarre Berrigan-Bernstein plot. "They didn't want to be embarrassed," Stevens told my associate Joseph Spear.

Stevens immediately got hold of Bernstein who denied the whole thing. The FBI report, he said, was "a wild rumor."

Nevertheless, to relieve White House anxiety, Nixon aide William Safire was invited to come to a rehearsal. Another presidential assistant, Leonard Garment, attended a dress rehearsal at the invitation of Bernstein himself.

Bernstein's mass was staged in September and was received with rave reviews. It contained only one line that could be interpreted as antiwar — "Dona Nobis Pacem" or "give us peace." President Nixon, in any case, did not attend.

The FBI's suspicions probably were aroused, according to Bernstein's manager Harry Kraut, by Bernstein's known friendship with Daniel Berrigan. They had even discussed the possibility of collaborating on a future production, said Kraut.

Bernstein did, in fact, visit Daniel Berrigan at Danbury prison. "They talked about the nature of mass," Kraut said. But they did not conspire to trick the President or anyone else into applauding unintentionally for peace.

Both presidential camps are furiously at work on tax proposals aimed at winning the support of the nation's aggrieved taxpayers.

George McGovern's advisers are talking privately about using tax credits to achieve a modest redistribution of income. They would like to shift some income from the top one-third to the lower two-thirds of the population by granting individual tax credits and taking it out of the taxes of the upper brackets.

The figure McGovern has in mind is a $1,000 tax credit for each adult and a lesser amount for each child.

President Nixon, meanwhile, is contemplating tax reforms of his own. Aides say he would like to reduce the tax burden on home owners. This would bring tax relief chiefly to the middle classes, who hold most of the votes.

He is also seeking some way to ease the financial burden on parents who send their children to private and parochial schools.

More on golden Greek

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — Let me come back, if I may, to the matter of George McGovern and Greece. I dealt with the story in a column 10 days ago. Certain amendments and amplifications need to be made.

Standing squarely in the center of this affair is the handsome, enigmatic figure of one of Washington's most polished and effective lobbyists, Elias P. Demetracopoulos. Among the Greeks in exile who hunger for the ouster of the present military regime, actress Melina Mercouri makes the biggest splash, and Professor Andreas Papandreu, up in Canada, rings the most violent alarms. But the exile who gets the most accomplished is, as McGovern addressed him on July 17, "Dear Elias."

He is a very remarkable fellow. In my recent column, I described him as (1) a minor journalist in Athens, who (2) turned up at a journalists' meeting in Communist Poland when he fled Greece in 1967; and I said he was (3) remembered in Athens as the author of a newspaper story in 1965, based upon a forged letter that gave currency to vicious anti-American propaganda.

As to (1): The "minor" was unfair, and I apologize for it. The conservative weekly, Human Events, has described Demetracopoulos as "the foremost political editor in Greece," and Herman Kahn, of the Hudson Institute, has identified him as "the distinguished political editor in exile."

As to (2): He did indeed turn up at a journalists' meeting in Warsaw when he escaped from Greece, but the meeting was the sixth in a series sponsored by the United Nations. He had been officially invited to attend.

As to (3): In August of 1965, when Demetracopoulos was working in Athens for the newspaper "Ethnos," its publisher received a photocopy of a letter purporting to have been written by Col. Oliver K. Marshall, then Army attache at the American embassy. The letter appeared to acknowledge CIA responsibility for an explosion at Gorgopotamos the preceding November that killed 13 persons.

Demetracopoulos says that when he was called in on the story, he suspected a forgery. His suspicions were confirmed by the embassy, which denounced the document as "clearly a fabrication." Other newspapers in Athens were understood to have received the purported letter also.

In an effort to beat the competition, Ethnos on Aug. 15 backed into the story through a lead paragraph quoting the embassy as denying the validity of the forged letter, which Ethnos then splashed all over its front page. Demetracopoulos says the decision thus to publicize the letter, while denying its authenticity, was not his own, but his publisher's. In any event, the story created a sensation, and was seized upon the next day by the Communist paper "Avgi" for anti-American exploitation.

Following his escape, Demetracopoulos settled in Washington. He became a consultant for Brimberg & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange. He continued to work as a journalist, but mostly he set out to win friends and to influence people on Capitol Hill. He cultivated such diverse senators as Byrd of Virginia and Javits of New York. A personable bachelor, he became an extra man for dinner. Strom Thurmond gave him a warmly inscribed photograph. In the annals of high-level lobbying, he holds a respected place.

His labors against the junta were rewarded a year ago, when the House approved an amendment urging a halt to American aid to Greece. But his greatest successes came last month in Miami, when he first persuaded key Democrats to include an anti-junta plank in the Democratic platform, and then received the "Dear Elias" letter from McGovern. It was in this letter that McGovern gratuitously spelled out what he would do about Greece "in January of next year."

What is puzzling in all this is the apparent willingness of so many key political figures to swallow, hook, bait and sinker, the line Demetracopoulos is feeding them. He himself is staunchly anti-Communist, but overthrow of the present regime would invite the instability and political chaos the Communists most desire. McGovern hasn't thought this thing through — and McGovern, alas, is not alone.

Dita and ITT were sympathetic

WASHINGTON — I am happy to report that Jack Anderson was not all alone during the greatest crisis of his career, when he falsely accused Sen. Thomas Eagleton of being cited for traffic violations while under the influence of.

I have just received the tapes of the first call Anderson received after the story broke that he had no proof to back up the charges. It was from his old friend, ITT lobbyist Dita Beard.

"Jack," she said, "I just wanted you to know that everyone here at ITT is rooting for you."

"It's nice of you to call," Jack said. "You know, it was all a terrible mistake."

"Of course, it was a terrible mistake. I was saying to Hal Gheen yesterday, 'Hal, I can't believe Jack would knowingly do something like this. He must have been under great pressure.' Hal agreed and said,

"It broke my heart when I read about it. I didn't sleep a wink all night."

"Gheen said that?" Anderson asked.

"I give you my word. He told me to call you and say that everyone in the ITT organization, including the Hartford Fire Insurance Co., is hoping you'll come out of this okay. He didn't talk to Attorney General Kleindienst, but he is sure he feels the same way."

"Gosh, that's really nice of all of you."

"What are friends for? Hal wants to know if you'd like the company plane to go away for a while."

"No, I'm going to stay here in Washington and keep apologizing."

"What about a good hospital in Denver where you could rest up?"

"I'll take the name, but I doubt if I'll need it."

"Would you like to go to San Diego and stay at one of our new Sheraton hotels?"

"It would be nice, but I'd better stay here for the moment."

"Well, could we lend you our paper shredder? You might want to destroy the photostats of Eagleton's drunk-driving tickets."

"There are no photostats of Eagleton's tickets," Anderson said sadly.

"No photostats? Everyone here said there had to be photostats or you wouldn't have gone with the story," Dita said.

"It wasn't my fault," Anderson said. "I had this source, a former high official in Missouri, and he told me he had seen them, and I was afraid of being scooped because I knew a lot of reporters were on the same story. So I broke it."

"Well, that makes sense," Dita said. "Anyone would have done the same thing in your shoes. By the way, could you use some shoes? ITT makes nice shoes."

"I don't need anything, Dita. Your call is enough as far as I'm concerned."

"Gheen's been getting a lot of calls from the press asking what he thinks of Anderson NOW, and you know what he's

One way to win any bridge event is to overbid and then make your contract. Bobby Goldman's one-club opening was just above a minimum. West's diamond overall was based on a six-card suit and general optimism. Nancy Alpaugh's double was one of those newfangled negative doubles for takeout. East's redouble showed strength and Bobby and Nancy overbid to four hearts.

The contract is a horror. There are four losing tricks, plus all sorts of handling charges, but watch what happened.

East cashed his top diamonds and led a third. This gave Bobby a chance to discard a losing spade and ruff in dummy.

A club was led from dummy and West plunked his ace right on Bobby's jack. This represented mistake number two by the defense. The third diamond lead gave Bobby a chance to get rid of a spade loser. This rush to take the ace made it possible for Bobby to pull trumps and score his clubs.

West actually led a fourth diamond. Bobby ruffed in dummy. East could have helped out by overruffing, but East discarded the queen of clubs. Bobby was ready. He played dummy's king of trumps; finessed against the jack; drew trumps and made his impossible game.

DEATH NOTICES

William J. Rymer

FAIRPORT, Ohio — William J. Rymer, 59, a former Sedalia, died Wednesday morning at Highland View Hospital in Cleveland.

He was born April 2, 1913, in Sedalia, son of the late William D. and Anna Mae Bremer.

He was reared in the Sedalia area, graduated from Smith-Cotton High School and was a member of the United Church of Christ.

Survivors include his widow Doris Jones Rymer, of the home; four daughters, Pam and Barbara, of the home; Doris Jean and Helen, both of Fairport; one son, Jim Rymer, Fairport; one brother, Glenn Rymer, Pittsburgh, Pa.; three sisters, Hazel Winrod, Columbia; Mrs. Kathleen England, 412 North Grand, Sedalia; Mrs. Evelyn Dennis, 650 East 15th, Sedalia; and 10 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday in Fairport.

Burial will be in Fairport.

Josie W. Lampton

VERSAILLES — Josie W. Lampton, 84, Kansas City, formerly of Versailles, died Wednesday in Kansas City.

She was born Oct. 12, 1887, at Ford, Kan., daughter of the late French and Anna Winn Gulick. On March 16, 1903, she was married to Aubra Lampton, who survives of the home.

She was a member of the Mt. Carmel Baptist Church.

Also surviving are one son, Lloyd Lampton, Santa Ana, Calif.; one daughter, Mrs. Lois Manker, Kansas City; one brother, Tom Gulick, 1415 South Beacon, Sedalia; three sisters, Mrs. Noma Fowler and Mrs. Lelia Peoples, both of Syracuse; Mrs. Mary Moon, Denver, Colo.; seven grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Kidwell-Garber Funeral Home here with the Rev. W. E. Chandler officiating.

Burial will be in Mt. Carmel Cemetery. The body is at the funeral home.

Tighter Scrutiny At Plants

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Tighter scrutiny of conditions at food processing plants is being undertaken by the Food and Drug Administration as the result of several recent reports by the General Accounting Office.

Frank Mosebar, acting deputy director of the FDA regional office here, said about 28 new inspectors and five technicians in Kansas City will head the more intensive drive in Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska. Seven more inspectors and technicians will be based in other cities of the region — principally in St. Louis.

FDA previously had 30 inspectors and two technicians to cover the region, Mosebar said.

Last April, one GAO report said it had inspected 97 food plants in 21 states, including the four Midwest states.

Twenty-four per cent of the insanitary plants have the potential to cause, or have caused, product contamination, the study showed.

There are believed to be as many as 3,500 warehouses and food processing plants the FDA should inspect in the four Midwest states.

Mosebar said some food plants and food storage warehouses in the region were inspected once every six months. The increased manpower is expected to allow every facility to be inspected at least once every one or two years.

The regional director said the FDA does not know "how many food sanitation firms there are in the region because it has been as long as six years, in some instances, since we have been into some of the firms or made any kind of survey."

Claims President 'Blew' Chance To End Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver said Thursday President Nixon "blew" a historic opportunity to end the war in 1969 on better terms than he can get now.

Shriver, who was U.S. ambassador to France when the Paris peace talks began, said Nixon had "one of the great historic opportunities of my lifetime, the same opportunity President Eisenhower had in Korea."

"Nixon had peace handed to him literally in his lap," Shriver said. "He blew it."

On another subject, Shriver disclosed he was an early, but not too active, supporter of the presidential candidacy of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and had given him $2,000. He said he later issued a statement supporting McGovern and his fight to retain his California delegates at last month's Miami Beach convention.

Shriver was interviewed at Timberlawn, the spacious estate he leases in suburban Maryland, in a room cluttered with mementoes of the Kennedy-era he shares as a family inlaw. Also prominent are souvenirs of his own career as director of the Peace Corps, the head of Office of Economic Opportunity and as ambassador to France.

Appointed to Paris by President Lyndon Johnson, Shriver stayed on for a year after Nixon was elected to the White House.

He remained, he said, because he thought Nixon would make the Paris peace talks succeed and because the President had agreed to virtually all of his recommendations on U.S. policy toward France.

He left, he asserted, because "steps toward peace had not been significant and I did not want to be connected with an administration where that effort was not being made."

Shriver said he did not want to make his disagreement with administration war policy a public confrontation with either Johnson or Nixon although he was free to express his own views when they differed from official policy, and did so often.

"I think we would have gotten better terms in 1969 than President Nixon can get today," he said.

"Now, we're hoping to get out completely within 90 days after our prisoners are released and a supervised ceasefire is established."

"Then, I can assure you, the terms would have been as good as that, or better."

President Nixon, Shriver said, could have offered the same terms he is now offering and the chances of their being accepted promptly would have been very high.

"The obvious reason, he said, 'is in that period we had hundreds of thousands of troops there.'"

Three Injured Severely

Three persons were severely injured about 1:55 p.m. Thursday in a two-car accident on Route Y, about three miles west of the city limits.

Taken to Bothwell Hospital in two Pettis County ambulances were Marla Joy Ruhl, 21, 1515 West Fourth, driver of one of the cars; Patty Lee Paxton, 21, 609 Wilkerson, the driver of the other car involved; and Dennis Paxton, 23, 609 Wilkerson, a passenger in the car driven by his wife.

According to doctors in the hospital emergency room, Paxton sustained injuries and fractures to both legs. He was transferred to the University of Missouri Medical Center in Columbia about 3 p.m. He was listed in critical condition.

Mrs. Paxton suffered a broken back, a broken nose and possible internal injuries. She was listed in satisfactory condition Thursday night.

Mrs. Ruhl suffered a fractured right leg and head and facial lacerations. She was listed in satisfactory condition Thursday night.

According to Trooper Curt Mathews, the accident occurred when a 1967 Ford, driven by Mrs. Ruhl, turned onto Highway Y into the path of a 1969 Pontiac driven by Mrs. Paxton. All three persons were thrown from their vehicles.

Mathews said the bumper of the Paxton car flew into the air and struck Dennis Paxton on the head.

Approve Merger Of Two Railroads

CHICAGO (AP) — Directors of the Illinois Central and Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroads approved Thursday merger of the two railroads into Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, a wholly owned subsidiary of IC Industries.

Federal courts in St. Louis and Kansas City prepared the way for the merger Wednesday by rejecting suits of two competing railroads against the plan.

The new railroad will operate on 9,400 miles of track in 14 states between the Great Lakes, the Midwest and the Gulf of Mexico.

Alan S. Boyd, Illinois Central president, was elected president and chief executive officer of the new railroad. Glen Brock, president of Gulf, Mobile & Ohio, was elected chairman.

Under the merger agreement, Gulf, Mobile & Ohio shareholders will receive 75 per cent of a share of a new issue of IC Industries preferred stock for each GM&O share held. A full share of the new preferred stock may be converted at the holder's option into 4½ shares of IC Industries common stock.

At the White House, deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren declined comment when asked about Shriver's allegations.

Shriver said his own position now, without full briefings by McGovern's issue staff, "cannot be phrased in sophisticated subtleties or even in the kind of calculated statement a candidate usually makes."

"I think we could have been out of Vietnam by declaring — just as Sen. George Aiken advised — that we had won and were getting out," he said. "A simple declaration that we had done all that we had set out to do and promised we were going to do."

Turning to other subjects, Shriver said he believes the Nixon administration's handling of the economy and the problems of inflation and joblessness will be one of the chief issues of the campaign.

"Nobody can come down from Mt. Sinai with a command that you have to have 5 per cent or 6 per cent unemployment in order to have prosperity," he said.

Complaining of current deficit spending by the federal government, Shriver added: "This administration stands indicted of the worst fiscal irresponsibility in my lifetime."

Shriver was reminded the administration is using some of those words to describe the alternative budget of his running mate, Sen. George McGovern, and has said McGovern's promises would result in a doubled budget next year and total spending of $589 billion.

"I think that is typical political campaign hogwash," Shriver said.

Later Shriver drove to Annapolis, Md., for what was widely regarded as a fence-mending visit with Gov. Marvin Mandel. Shriver considered running for governor of Maryland on his return from Paris in 1970.

Touring the capital building's state rooms, Shriver told newsmen McGovern has not bound him to total agreement on every issue that may arise.

Number of Voters Short of Record

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Tuesday's primary election probably will fall about 25,000 votes short of the 1936 primary election turnout of 1,035,000, aides of Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick said Thursday.

Kirkpatrick had predicted 1 million vote total in the 15-man governor's race, and the total, with seven of the state's 4,113 precincts uncounted, showed 900,841.

At least 5,000 absentee ballots had not been counted.

The 990,841 total also does not include votes for the independent and nonpartisan candidates, who were unopposed in the primary.

Producer Marked by Hard Work

Sherry Bain

Acting Made Sherry Bain a New Girl

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Sherry Bain, one of TV's better guest star leads, owes her new life to her new profession. As an actress, everything about her has changed — the way she looks, the way she thinks, the way she is.

"I'd given up on myself," Sherry says. "I didn't think I'd ever amount to anything."

She grew up in Lake Arrowhead, the resort area high in the mountains above Los Angeles. It's hard to believe, when you look at the slim, beautiful redhead today, but she says she wasn't very attractive as a girl. She was fat and shy and unhappy.

A counsellor in her high school told her she didn't have what it takes to do much of anything. She believed him and put aside her ambition to get into politics — she had long admired Clare Boothe Luce.

Instead, she got a job as a clerk in a supermarket. She began working in Lake Arrowhead but then she followed a boy friend "down the hill to the city" and worked in Los Angeles supermarkets for three years.

One day a man named John Cestare came into the supermarket where she was working. He sensed something in Sherry and took her under his wing. She began studying acting with him and, more importantly, he gave her back her confidence.

She lost weight. She began to believe in herself again. And, she says, her mental capacities expanded — "since I started acting, my IQ has gone up 50 points."

"Now," she says, "I'm using this same technique to help the girl I was raised with, who is 29 but is retarded and has the mental age of 14. I'm giving her acting and singing lessons, and the improvement is remarkable. Her family had given up on her; they'd tried everything possible. But, since she's been with me, she's improved tremendously."

Sherry has gone on to some good things. She's had the lead in several minor films, mostly motorcycle films, but one of these, "The Hard Ride," was a good one and brought her some great reviews.

She's been in many TV shows, notably the guest lead in a two-part Marcus Welby, the TV movie, "A Very Missing Person," and many others.

"I might have had a few more big parts," she says, candidly, "if I'd socialized more with Hollywood big-shots. But, if I did, I'd be out of the business now — I couldn't live with myself."

She says that, lately, she's been looking for a new agent, and has run into problems in this area — they'll take her if she'll agree to be "sociable."

"But I'm too old-fashioned for that," she says, "too much of a puritan."

There's still a lot of Lake Arrowhead left in Sherry Bain.

Benjamin Franklin, epitome of success, lost a government job in 1774, when the English monarch fired him as postmaster general for the American colonies.

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) —

This, they say, is the age of the independent producer. But there are different kinds of independent producers active in the Hollywood film mines. If you want to understand today's Hollywood it's well to look at a couple of them.

Irwin Allen is one kind. He is what you might call the Cadillac of independents. At the moment, he's producing one of the biggest films done in Hollywood in some years — the $5 million film, "The Poseidon Adventure."

Allen read Paul Gallico's novel in galley form, liked it and immediately shelled out $100,000 of his own money for the rights to the property. Then, for another $125,000, he hired Stirling Silliphant to write the screenplay.

Thus, he spent almost a quarter of a million dollars himself, before he'd made a deal with a studio. Eventually, he sold it to 20th Century-Fox but had to raise $2.5 million—in 72 hours—to match an equal amount from Fox. He did it.

Allen has been producing for years. He has made many movies and several TV series: Lost in Space, The Time Tunnel and Land of the Giants. He is probably the world's most organized producer.

In his suite of offices at Fox he has his own art department and his walls are covered with neatly arranged story boards, sketches which guide the complicated production. On other boards, he has thumb-tacked cards of various colors, to indicate what each of the units is doing, what meeting are scheduled, the status of every segment.

He holds a production meeting every day promptly at 2:30 p.m. at which the head of each department reports on the current status. Probably because of this, this tremendously complicated film is two days ahead of schedule.

He gets involved with every segment of the movie. He directs his own second unit. Even at this stage with the film still in production he is sending out a constant flow of letters, telegrams and other promotional material to exhibitors.

Where Allen uses studio facilities, another independent producer, Burt Topper, is even more independent. His company is a true microcosm of a studio.

Burt Topper Productions is housed in its own building in Hollywood. Topper has his own offices, with his own cameras, lights, cutting rooms, projection room, everything. Much of it is homemade equipment, because Topper, in addition to being a producer — director — writer-actor, is an ex-contractor who can build his own cutting machine without batting a budget.

Topper deals in low-budget films, such as his just finished "The Lovin' Man," a film which deals both with the Jesus freaks and the drug problem. It stars Fabian — "a new Fabian," Topper says, "in a beard and long hair."

Independent Producer

Irwin Allen (left) confers with his director, Ronald Neame, aboard the Queen Mary. Allen is shepherding the $5-million budget film, "The Poseidon Adventure," through complicated shooting. Some scenes of the movie based on the Paul Gallico novel were shot aboard the famous luxury liner. (NEA)

Topper used to produce for others, working at studios, but he got fed up with what he calls "the anti-social films I had to work on." He was involved with "Wild in the Streets," and fought, long and hard and unsuccessfully, to have them eliminate a scene in which kids dumped LSD into a city's water supply system.

He made a bunch of the motorcycle pictures but says he'll never do another. He thinks they did a great deal of harm to our society. He thinks that now, as an independent producer, he has a responsibility to society.

As an independent, he has to make films which make money. Thus, he is constantly trying to outguess the public. He says this is getting harder all the time.

"Nothing is safe any more," he says, "except perhaps horror films. Westerns aren't a sure thing, unless you have John Wayne. Bike pictures have had it. I think maybe the best bet is a film that has to do with underdogs—like 'Billy Jack'—and also films with nostalgia—like 'Summer of '42.'"

Chet Atkins On 'Evening at Pops'

(Democrat-Capital Service)

ST. LOUIS — Chet Atkins joins Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops for an hour of country-folk-pop music Sunday, at 9 p.m. on "Evening at Pops" on KETC-TV, Channel 9.

Atkins, noted for his wit and dry humor as well as his musical abilities, has appeared on all the top television shows and played with symphony orchestras in St. Louis and other major cities.

Chet will solo on "Blue Angel," "Misonera," and "Black Mountain Rag" on the Sunday telecast of the weekly concert series. The Pops orchestra will accompany Atkins on the Grammy Award-winning song, "Snowbird," and live in tiings up later with a medley of hoe-down tunes.

Jerry Shook, another Tennessean, will team up with Chet for a guitar-harmonica duet of "Blue Steel Blues," and the program will close with "Yakety Sax."

Begins American Movie Career in 'Deadly Honeymoon'

NEW ORLEANS, La. — (NEA) — Her name is Rebecca DNA Smith and she's using all three names.

"I've always been Rebecca Diana," she says. "When my folks were mad at me, it was Rebecca Diana Smith!" I don't see any point in changing my name—that's me, Rebecca Diana Smith."

And so that's the way she'll be billed in "Deadly Honeymoon" and hers is a name to remember. Obviously, if a big studio (MGM) and a major director (Elliot Silverstein) and an important producer (Hugh Benson) see fit to give her the lead in a $1.5 million picture, she must have something.

She does. She is not a conventional beauty but she has a face that manages to combine sweetness, sex and intelligence and still be very individual. They say she photographs something like a young Jennifer Jones.

She's also an actress. She took all the honors at London's Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts. She's actually a Dallas girl but she went to England to learn her craft. She was there for four years.

"After four years in England," she says, "it's hard to adjust to the heat and humidity of Louisiana. I sweat a lot. Funny, I don't remember sweating when I was in Texas."

She would have stayed in England and acted on the stage there but there is the matter of work permits, hard to get for Americans. She says one way a lot of her American girl classmates got around that was to marry Englishmen.

Stage is what she most wants to do—"The stage is my home"—and some day she hopes to have her own theater.

Her costars in "Deadly Honeymoon" are Dick Rambo and John Beck. Both have done a lot of TV—Rambo was a regular on "The Guns of Will Sonnet" and Beck on "Nichols."

This is Rambo's biggest role and could be his best role. But he has been around long enough to realize that a great script and great rushes don't necessarily add up to a great picture. He's holding his optimism in check.

"Features are what I really want to do," Rambo says, "but I'd do another series—for the money. I've had quite a few offers since this picture began. They know you won the part over hundreds of others, so they figure you must have something."

New Star

Rebecca Diana Smith starts her American movie career as the lead in "Deadly Honeymoon," filmed in Louisiana. A Texan, she won the part after four years of study and acting in England. (NEA)

TV Actor

Dick Rambo has the biggest role of his career as the revengeful husband in "Deadly Honeymoon." (NEA)

Beck is the heavy in "Deadly Honeymoon." They're saying he'll make an impact like the great heavies of the past. He's a real psychotic meanie. Last season on "Nichols" he was Ketchum, a comic heavy.

"This is my first really big thing," he says. "The character's a real psychotic. It's fun."

He was accompanied to New Orleans, where they shot most of the film, by his pretty English wife, Tina, and his 13-month-old son, Tara. They weren't there when he turned mean, however. It wouldn't do to have Tara see his daddy acting awful.

One thing about "Deadly Honeymoon" which is, or could be, a sign of changing times in Hollywood. The crux of the story is a rape but it isn't shown on screen.

"I refused to do the picture with the rape scene in it," says the director, Elliot Silverstein. "It has been done too often and, besides, I'd get embarrassed. And where do you put the camera?"

Vernon Is America's Best Unknown Comedian

By JOAN CROSBY

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — It may have been the most difficult spot any comedian ever faced. Female impressionist Jim Bailey had just brought Judy Garland alive for the opening night audiences at the Century-Plaza's Westside Room. As Bailey left the stage following his remarkable performance, out came "one of America's best unknown comedians Jeremy Vernon to face an audience wrestling with all kinds of emotions.

It's to his credit that he got the group laughing uproariously almost immediately.

Jeremy Vernon is a brilliant young comic, likable, extremely adept in his characterization and tasteful in his material. Actor Ross Martin, after seeing his impressions of several nationalities welcoming people aboard their country's airlines, said, "How about that? Stand-up characterizations."

Jeremy has done some television but not as much as his talent deserves. He acted in The Flying Nun and Love, American Style. He has been on The Ed Sullivan Show and various talk shows. His just-finished engagement at the Westside Room will bring him more TV. Lucille Ball was in the opening night audience and she laughed her head off at his antics.

One of the reasons he is so funny is that he bases his act on truth. He is German and Jewish, as he tells his audience, building a great routine around the warring ethnic backgrounds.

"As a child (and the accent is suddenly Teutonic) I would march to the sandbox and conquer it, then (and the accent changes to pure New Yorkese) I would subdivide it and sell it to the Puerto Ricans."

Jeremy Vernon

He says he had to change his name, because Moishe Hitler was not a good name for show business. Then he says, "I lied about that."

"Recently someone gave me a line to use," he said later. "It started 'My wife buys and so on' and I said, 'but I'm not married.' He told me to say ex-wife and I said 'I don't have an ex-wife.' Writers are so used to writing for formulas but I can't use stuff that isn't true."

He does Polish jokes, Puerto Rican jokes, black jokes and he gets upset when, as happened once, a network censor would not let him do a joke about an accident in which 135 Puerto Ricans were injured. "The car they were riding in burst," he says.

He's a New Yorker who was drawn to both performing and art. He won a Paul Terry Award and got a job at Terrytoons. Then he went in the service, where he began performing.

Talent Head Urges New Star System

DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Joan of Arc was a heroine of France. Maybe Hollywood has one, too. Call her Joyce of Arc Lights.

Joyce Selznick is a bouncy, enthusiastic, ebullient woman whose field is talent. She had her own talent agency in New York when she was only 17. Over the years she's been head of talent for Columbia, Paramount and now MGM. Her list of discoveries is long and loud—people like Tony Curtis, Candice Bergern, George C. Scott, Robert Redford, Faye Dunaway, Jack Nicholson.

Obviously, she's pro-star. She thinks the star system was the foundation of Hollywood's success and it still should be.

"The talent is there," she says, "and the public still wants stars. Go out and you'll see—even a bit player comes to a town somewhere and creates excitement."

"Hollywood gave up on stars but the public didn't."

The collapse of the star system, most experts will tell you, is a direct result of the collapse of the studios. In the old, golden days a studio would sign a young performer and groom him (or her) for years, slowly, carefully.

The studio would put the youngster in bit parts first and guide him, on and off screen. It would teach him how to act, dress, dance, sing, whatever. Gradually, it would put him in bigger, better parts.

When the studios flopped there was nobody around who could or would take that time and that much interest in young unknowns. So the star system fell on its pretty face.

"The problem today," Joyce Selznick says, "is that there is no career management. No continuity of a young person's career. They make a picture and maybe they're off to a great start. Then what? The second and third picture is as important as the first."

"Look at Faye Dunaway. After 'Bonnie and Clyde,' she made bad choices. She wanted money and made bad choices. Look at Carrie Snodgrass—one picture and then nothing."

"There must be a way to give young stars good career management. I think I know the secret. Now if I can just sell the studio on my plan."

She won't say what her idea is. But she believes it will work—"I think I can save the business"—and it involves the studios utilizing talent in a new way which will permit them to develop stars again.

If things work out her way the program will kick off with three young actors she found for Elliot Silverstein's picture, "Deadly Honeymoon" shooting in and around New Orleans.

Her search for the three leads for "Deadly Honeymoon" was the nearest thing to an old-time talent search Hollywood has seen in some years.

"Of course, I only had 10 weeks," she says, "as compared to the year or so I used to have. But I saw some 1,500 people. I went to New York to see all the shows—I'd see two plays a night, the first act of one and the second act of another."

She did something unheard of here. She called in every agent in town, gave each one a script of the movie and asked them all to cast the film for her. Her door was open. She saw everybody they brought in, everybody who walked in and asked to be read.

"When I see somebody new," Joyce says, "what I look for first is energy. Then intelligence. Then talent. But energy is the most important thing, particularly now when these kids must self-generate so much."

Eventually, she found her three leads—a girl named Rebecca Smith, her young lead, Dack Rambo, and her heavy, John Beck. Both have been around awhile in TV and bits in films. But neither has ever had a movie lead.

Miss Smith is brand, sparkling new. She was one of those who came into her office cold, with her agent, Bill Robinson. She had studied for several years at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London, far from her native Texas. But she'd never been in front of a camera in her life.

She wasn't the physical type Silverstein and producer Hugh Benson had in mind—they had been looking for a blonde, a Candice Bergernish girl.

Rambo and Beck both have had considerable experience. In New Orleans, Rambo told me he has to laugh about MGM's continually calling him an unknown. But from the studio's standpoint, he is. He name means nothing at the box office.

Joyce is as proud of resurrecting him from the TV reruns of "The Guns of Will Sonnet" as she is of finding Rebecca Smith a complete unknown.

"This town's morale is shot," Joyce Selznick says. "There's complete lack of enthusiasm. But the need is there—the need for product. I'm optimistic that Hollywood can come back—with stars."

CHARRY TO K.C.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Michael Charry, assistant conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra, has been appointed principal guest conductor of the Kansas City Philharmonic, starting in the fall.

Charry's 11-year association with the Cleveland Orchestra began in 1961 when he was chosen apprentice conductor by George Szell as the result of nationwide competition.

Charry has been musical director of the Cafton, Ohio, Symphony since 1961, a post he will continue. He has resigned from the Cleveland Orchestra.

Self Defense Series Begins

(Democrat-Capital Service)

ST. LOUIS — The typical sexual assault on a woman is committed by someone who knows her, at least by sight, and is afraid of her. The attacker generally uses only a limited number of tactics to overpower his victim.

These facts are based on an extensive survey of information on rapes and assaults conducted by Jerry Offstein. Based on these facts he has designed a course in practical self-defense.

Jerry Offstein, a former Green Beret who holds a third degree black belt in Taekwondo Karate, will begin his 10-part series, "Self Defense For Women," at 9:30 p.m., Wednesday on KETC-TV, Channel 9.

The weekly course will demonstrate how women can defend themselves using basic, easy-to-learn karate and judo techniques.

Special Program Salutes Radio's Past

(Democrat-Capital Service)

ST. LOUIS — Station KETC-TV, Channel 9 will salute radio's colorful past in a special "The Big Broadcast of 1972," beginning at 7 p.m., Saturday. The Saturday telecast will feature two showings of the "Playhouse New York" production of "The Great Radio Comedians," a revisit with Edgar Bergen, Jack Benny, George Burns and many other radio greats, and an hour special on St. Louis radio nostalgia, "Behind the Microphone." "The Great Radio Comedians" will reconstruct the development of radio comedy from its roots in vaudeville, using old and often rare movie footage, sound tapes and stills. Some of the more memorable moments of radio history included are: Jack Benny's

Anything Goes In New Fashions

(Democrat-Capital Service)

ST. LOUIS — The ever-changing, never-ending fashion scene provides the source for intriguing entertainment, as Ralph Story hosts "Fashion — Anything Goes," a KPLR-TV special Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Guests Loren Greene, John Forsythe, Don Adams, Steve Allen, Alan Sues and Mel Torme have their say about the men's clothes craze. Polly Bergen, Debbie Reynolds, Jane Meadows and Rosemary Stack also interject some feminine comments concerning the fashion scene. In order to cover all the many ups and down of fashion, Ralph talks with several leading designers who set the pace — people like Bill Blass, Geoffrey Beene, Edith Head, Giorgio D'Sant Angelo and Rudy Gernreich. Ralph queries the publishers of the two leading national fashion tabloids — John Fairchild, publisher of "Women's Wear Daily" and Baron Wolman, publisher of "Rags" — men who time the pulse-beat of the fashion world and predict what they see forthcoming. To indicate just how extensive the fashion game really is, Ralph visits a pet boutique where we see "hot pants" for poodles and raincoats for raccoons.

State Fair Preview On

(Democrat-Capital Service)

COLUMBIA — Missouri Forum will present its annual "State Fair Preview" on Saturday with representatives from the fair and its queen. Nearly 500,000 are expected to visit the event in Sedalia from Aug. 18 to 27.

Station KOMU-TV, Channel 8, of the University of Missouri-Columbia will telecast the program at 6 p.m.

Appearing on the Forum will be W. C. Askew of Sedalia, executive secretary of the State Fair; Gene Thompson, director of marketing, State Department of Agriculture, Jefferson City; and Miss Cherry Barker of Drexel, reigning 1971 State Fair Queen.

The Fair representatives will describe facilities and traditional exhibits of livestock, home economics and agriculture; the fine arts show; commercial events; auto and cycle races and entertainment features, most of them free.

Chief Justice To Be Guest On Program

(Democrat-Capital Service)

COLUMBIA — Chief Justice James A. Finch Jr. of Missouri's Supreme Court will appear on the Aug. 19 Missouri Forum.

Station KOMU-TV, Channel 8, of the University of Missouri-Columbia will telecast the program at 6 p.m.

Judge Finch will discuss the State Court system with Dr. Edward C. Lambert, Forum moderator. Missouri's nonpartisan selection of judges, added to the Constitution in 1940 by voters after initiative petition, has become a model for several other states.

Finch was appointed to the Supreme Court in 1965 and retained for a 12-year term in the 1966 general election. The seven judges select one of their number to be chief justice. A native of Cape Girardeau, he has bachelor of arts, juris doctor and doctor of laws degrees from UMC. He received a University Distinguished Service Award in 1965. He is a past president of the University Board of Curators and has served on numerous advisory boards and commissions on higher education.

Hollywood stars.

The guest list for the St. Louis radio nostalgia special, "Behind the Microphone," will be announced as it becomes available closer to the air date.

Family a-Fair," the event will continue for ten days, one more than last year. Entertainment will range from recording stars for youth, country and western music to Lawrence Welk and the "Chaplain from Bourbon Street," Bob Harrington.

Missouri Forum moderator is Dr. Edward C. Lambert, UMC professor of journalism.

Maternal Care To Be Shown On Mondays

(Democrat-Capital Service)

ST. LOUIS — Maternal and child health care will be the subject of a 12-program series, "Nine To Get Ready" to be televised on station KETC-TV, Channel 9, Mondays at 10:30 p.m., beginning August 14.

Beginning with preconception care, the nine months of pregnancy, and then to delivery, the series concludes with a number of programs on current research in reproductive physiology and family planning.

The series was produced by KUON-TV, Lincoln, Nebr., under terms of a grant from the Nebraska State Health Department's Division of Maternal and Child Health.

The programs are aimed at informing viewers of the advances that have been made in maternal and child health care, and services available; also to encourage the patient to seek out those services from reputable physicians or specialists.

MISSIONARY CALL

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The world missions agency of the Presbyterian Church U.S. (southern) has recommended that the denomination invite overseas churches to send missionaries to the United States for a change. All six continents need missionaries from elsewhere, the agency says, including this country.

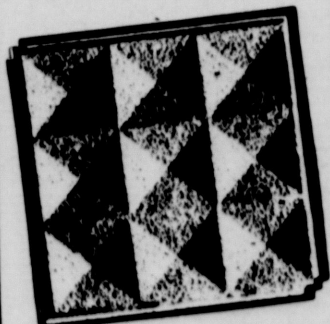

NEW RELIGIOUS BEAT

NEW YORK (AP) — Avant Garde Records, a leader in publishing popular religious albums, has issued five new ones, including "Songs of Promise" and "In Love" by the Medical Mission Sisters, who have turned out several previous hits. Other new religious albums, with a contemporary beat, include "Dust and Ashes," "The Mission" and "Rebirth."

TV Scout Reports

By JOAN CROSBY

The fact that Joan Crawford has done a guest role in The Sixth Sense has been widely printed. But what hasn't been mentioned is the fact that the character the show's star Gary Collins plays, Dr. Rhodes, does not appear in the script. Instead Gary comes on at the beginning of the show to say, "Instead of appearing on tonight's show, I'll be watching it with you to enjoy our very special guest star — Miss Joan Crawford."

Gary also has a brief chat with Miss Crawford at the conclusion. The subject: ESP, of course. Originally Joan told a story about her dear friend Edith Head but it was more coincidence than ESP. Now she tells a story about a dream she had involving her dog — the next day the dream came true.

Speaking of guests, Jim Bailey has filmed a segment of Here's Lucy — but there's another guest in that episode, Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty.

Ricardo Montalban will play a prince in still another Here's Lucy.

Bobby Darin, who has a show which replaces Dean Martin's for the summer on NBC, has won four gold records, three of them for songs he wrote. But he admits that he still can't read music.

Wally Cox, one of the staples on The Hollywood Squares, is a do-it-yourself buff. Presently he is setting up an elaborate alarm system around his house. "At present," he says, "I've only been shocked three times. But my big problem is keeping the garage door from opening each time the telephone rings."

The first episode of The Sandy Duncan Show was filmed before a live audience, with Sandy looking great and acting her usual effervescent, appealing and funny self. The series, however, is not vastly different from last season's Funny Face. It's basically the same gimmick, with a new cast of characters surrounding Sandy. Marion Mercer, who was so great on Broadway in "Promises, Promises," plays her friend and the wife of the apartment house manager. Eric Christmas is the handyman who is slow about fixing things. M. Emmet Walsh is the policeman who lives downstairs and protects Sandy. Tom Bosley is Quinn, the agent who handles Sandy for commercials with Alfie Wise as his son, Cohen. (That's one of the jokes—the father and son have different names because the father changed his.)

But, like last year's show, Sandy is still trying to make a living doing commercials and she still talks about college. She also will have a part-time job in the agency, working with Pam Zarit, who plays the company's kooky receptionist.

The set which represents Sandy's apartment has two points of interest. There is a photograph on the table behind the couch which looks very much like an older, heavier Sandy. It's a picture of her real mother. On the table beside her bed there is a photograph of Sandy's real father.

After the taping Sandy was guest of honor at a party at the Bistro, hosted by Bea Lavery, wife of Paramount's new boss, Emmet Lavery Jr. Sandy arrived early and stayed reasonably late. But as she left with her handsome doctor date (they are close to an engagement), she went to every table and thanked the guests for coming.

Richard Castellano, who stars in The Super, believes in both nepotism and friendship. His daughter Margaret plays his daughter on the series. His friend and business partner, Ardell Sheridan, plays his wife. And now an old friend, Louis Basile, has become a semi-regular in the role of The Super's confidante, Louie. The last time the gentlemen worked together was in 1966 in the critically-acclaimed revival of "View From the Bridge," which had Robert Duvall and Jon Voight in the cast and an assistant director named Dustin Hoffman.

The network has ordered four more episodes of The Super, bringing the total (including the pilot) to 14.

Flip Wilson said, "Many a wife thinks her husband is the world's greatest lover. But she can never catch him at it."

By DICK KLEINER

Susan Saint James, of NBC's McMillan and Wife, presented the studio with a list of demands—27 of them—which, she said, had to be met before she would do the series this year.

On the list were such things as a demand that she have a completely free hand in choosing her wardrobe, that her hairdresser be paid time-and-a-half for a full week, etc.

Universal told her that if she didn't report for work by noon on a certain Friday, they would replace her with Susan Clark, already under contract to the studio. Around 11 A.M., that Friday, Miss Saint James showed up, ready for work. None of the 27 demands was met.

Miss Saint James' behavior reminds Hollywood insiders of what happened to Linda Evans, the beauty who was one of the family on The Big Valley. She had a shining career ahead of her but married John Derek, who began "guiding" her career so strictly that she has rarely worked since.

Jeanette Nolan and Dack Rambo did a two-part Guns episode last season called "Pike," in which Miss Nolan played a lovable old lady named Sally Fergus. She says she's heard that the two-partner drew more mail than any show in the program's 17-year history. And, because of that, a sequel has been written and will go before the cameras in September.

Burgess Meredith, of NBC's new Search series, has a wife who flies — or she did, until he persuaded her to give it up. In its place he bought her a motor home—which he uses and as a dressing room when he's working.

After his accident this summer, when he was seriously injured doing a stunt in the Dean Martin movie, "Show Down," Rock Hudson has realized that time is catching up with him.

He's told Universal that they'd better get a stunt man on the payroll, full time. He'll do no more stunts himself.

Peculiar ambition confessed by Robert Fuller of NBC's Emergency! — he'd like someday to play the part of a bullfighter.

Brian Bressler, one of the *Laugh-In*ners for this season, dreamed last November that something good would happen to him in May. On May 1 Paul Keyes called to offer him the Laugh-In berth.

Now, since Blocker's death, the Bonanza brass think the time change will be especially beneficial to the show.

"Without Dan," says producer Richard Collins, "it will be virtually a new show, so a new time period may be appropriate."

One show Bonanza will have this season deals with Mark Twain, an episode based on historical fact. They first asked Hal Holbrook to do the part, because of his success playing Twain in his one-man show. But Holbrook is contractually barred from doing an episode of a TV series. So playing Twain will be Ken Howard, who was Thomas Jefferson in the Broadway hit, "1776."

Is 'The Godfather' Good for Society?

Attracts Many

Patrons continue to flock to see "The Godfather." With a movie sequel scheduled, Hollywood discusses the pros and cons of the impact of the movie about organized crime on the public. Here Richard S. Castellano, left, coaches Al Pacino on how to wipe out a gang rival. Castellano believes organized crime is better than disorganized crime and feels "The Godfather" is a good movie about a loyal family. (NEA)

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Before it's all over, "The Godfather" will probably be seen by more people than any previous movie (save, perhaps, "Gone With the Wind") and make several people very rich. It may make a few actors into stars and possibly earn some of them Oscars.

But what will it do to society?

This is an important question, because at the moment Paramount is putting together a sequel. They're now calling it, for reasons of convenience, "Godfather II." And the combined group is superior to the law could be profound.

The basic problem is that there are those who feel the film is a force for good. They point to it being a "family" picture and they are not being facetious.

"It's about a family," says Richard S. Castellano, one of the film's stars, "and a very loyal family. I think there should be more loyalty in families."

Of course, you can show loyal families who engage in other trades besides crime. "Sometimes a Great Notion," for example, showed a loyal family in the lumbering business but it didn't have the power at the box office of "The Godfather."

Castellano also believes that "The Godfather" expresses a choice between organized and disorganized crime and implicitly indicates that the one is better than the other.

"There has always been crime," he says, "as far back as Biblical times. And there always will be crime. Which would you rather have, organized crime or disorganized crime?"

"If crime is organized, then it's safe to walk on the street. If you put a bet down, you know you'll collect if you win. If crime is disorganized, the streets aren't safe and you never know if your winning bet will be paid."

Grey Frederickson, associate producer of "The Godfather," agrees in essence. He says that organized crime is the lesser of the two evils, that crime is inherent in human nature and "some kind of controlling establishment might be a good thing."

"Some critics have written," he says, "that our picture glamorizes or condones crime and violence. I hope it doesn't. It's the story of a family with strong bonds and much love, who just happen to be in the business of crime."

"That is probably not a very moral business, but they deal in things—drugs, gambling, prostitution—that they feel the people want. It's not right, but it exists."

Frederickson thinks organized crime has the indirect effect of increasing crime on the streets, because it makes it easier to get drugs, and drug addicts are a huge source of street crime.

Tom Reddin, a former Los Angeles police chief who is now a TV and radio news commentator, expresses the views of law enforcement officials.

"Professionals in the business of law enforcement" he says, "work on the premise of which kind of crime is less bad. Not which is better. I don't think organized crime is better.

"Organized crime is more detrimental to society, because of the amount of money which it peels out of the economy. The economic loss to organized crime is absolutely astronomical. It would be even higher if it were to be encouraged by movies or any other instrument."

"And another thing. Organized crime operates in an aura of governmental corruption, which makes it worse."
